ITALY READY TO NEGOTIATE PEACE PLANS

With Delegate Baron Aloisi Returning to Geneva Tomorrow Spokesman Indicates Mussolini Giving Ground in Ethiopian Discussion

Faced with economic isolation at Geneva, Italy gave ground to-day and in anticipation of the arrival of Baron Pompeo Aloisi, delegate to the League, an Italian spokesman said, "Italy is willing to negotiate."

Before he left Paris for Geneva, Premier Laval said, "Peace will be made."

The League prepared to set a date for general imposition of sanctions by fifty-two nations, probably November 15.

Associated Press
Geneva, Oct. 31.—An Italian spokesman announced to-day the warring Fascist nation was willing to negotiate for peace with Ethiopia.

The spokesman made this assertion as the League of Nations offered Italy a final interval for consideration of settlement of the east African conflict before being subjected to an economic blockade.

"Italy is willing to negotiate," he asserted in reference to the visit to Geneva of Baron Pompeo Aloisi, representative of Premier Mussolini, who is due to-morrow for the meeting of representatives of fifty-two nations which will set the date for actual enforcement of economic sanctions.

A British spokesman said Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare also would be pleased to sound out the situation before application of the boycott, probably fifteen days hence.

Between now and that "deadline" League sources said, Premier Mussolini (Turn to Page 11, Col. 4)

J. J. Walker In New York Again
Aboard S. S. Manhattan, off Quarantine, New York, Oct. 31.—James J. "Jimmy" Walker, former Mayor of New York, returned home to-day from almost three years of self-imposed exile in Europe.

Mr. Walker, with his wife, the former Betty Compson, musical comedy star, arrived at Quarantine on the liner Manhattan at noon.

Lively Duel In British Campaign

FORCES FIGHT NEAR MAKALE

Italian Units Said to Have Reached Ethiopian Town; Driven Back

Canadian Press from Havas
Rome, Oct. 31.—Advance detachments of the Italian army moving southward from Adigrat reached their objective, Makale, to-day, but were compelled to retreat when faced with strong enemy defences, according to authoritative reports reaching here.

More than 200,000 Ethiopian warriors under Ras Seyoum and Ras Kassa are massed in the Makale region ready to defend the main approach to Addis Ababa against the Fascist attack.

General Rodolfo Graziani, Italian commander of the southern front, was reported to be bringing up his artillery for an assault on Gorrabel.

Associated Press
Rome, Oct. 31.—Italian troops on the British front to-day continued their advance on Makale, it was announced in an official communiqué.

The First Army Corps, the announcement said, occupied a region dotted with wells in the vicinity of (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1.)

ANTI-BRITISH SCENES IN ROME

Associated Press
Rome, Oct. 31.—Students, demonstrating against Great Britain, stormed stores they believed to be British-owned to-night following a morning demonstration in front of the British embassy.

The shouting students then started for the British Consulate in the Piazza Venezia, but the police went into action there, preventing them from reaching their objective, and quickly dispersed them.

Navy Alliance Plan Discussed

Experts of Britain and France Confer; Italy Sees Loss
Canadian Press from Havas
London, Oct. 31.—Preparations for naval co-operation to enforce the League of Nations trade embargo against Italy have resulted in discussions of an Anglo-French naval alliance, it was reported here to-day.

Although officials said that France and Great Britain were making preparations in view of imminent enforcement of the raw materials embargo and trade boycotts against Italy, naval experts of both countries are believed to have worked out the details of a naval alliance. Although confirmation could not be obtained, it was indicated the reports were premature rather than inaccurate.

The military, naval, and air experts of both countries conferred again to-day, although details of possible co-operation of Mediterranean forces have been completed.

YAWNING NOW FOR FIFTY-THREE DAYS

Although relieved at times by short spells of sleep, Mrs. F. E. Wakelin, 1819 Camosun Street, was still yawning to-day. It is now fifty-three days since the unusual affliction seized her. She is resting quietly at home after taking hospital treatment earlier in the week.

Viscount Snowden, Speaking For Liberals, Draws Much Fire From Chamberlain, Churchill and Others

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Oct. 31.—A major political battle is raging around the crippled figure of Viscount Snowden, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, who left the Labor Party to join the National Government, left it to be independent, and is now campaigning for the opposition Liberals.

His acid broadcast speech against the government has brought heavy fire from the ministerial batteries. Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, present Chancellor of the Exchequer, present Secretary Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill and Alfred Duff Cooper, are all attacking Lord Snowden.

Manchester Liberals are trying to get former Prime Minister David Lloyd George and Lord Snowden to speak on the same platform during the campaign, judging the joint appearance of two ancient foes would be an unrivaled attraction.

Lord Snowden is hitting back at the government. "I was very mindful to Mr. Chamberlain in dealing with his unbalanced budgets," he retorted to the Chancellor of the Exchequer. "I made no mention of the fact that (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

WAR FEVER IN ITALIAN CITIES

While its armies in northern and southern Ethiopia wage campaigns, Italy itself is running a high war fever, as evidenced by the picture above—though the League of Nations is steadily increasing its pressure to end the fighting. Each message from the front announcing progress in the African invasion is the signal for wild rejoicing in Rome where, after nightfall, as pictured here, truckloads of gleeful Fascists pour streets thronged with tumultuous, banner-waving crowds.

Beer and Wine Measure At Next Session Is Plan

Bill Calling For Local Option on Serving Refreshments in Hotels and Restaurants Reported to Be Government Plan; Victoria Petition Turned Down
A local option system under which beer and wine would be sold in standard hotels and restaurants with meals is proposed for the Victoria Municipality.

An attempt will be made by the government to secure support for such a plan from the Liberal caucus at the next session of the Legislature.

This was the understanding to-day after the government had decided against granting the petition of the Victoria Moderation League for immediate action on beer and wine or for a plebiscite.

Premier Pattullo gave the Moderation League its reply yesterday, with an indefinite reference that "the whole question will come up for review at a later date."

This is taken to mean that the issue will be put to the caucus which has twice turned down any change in the system.

However, a formula has been reached which, it is hoped, will be given party approval.

This calls for a system much after the Quebec style. Standard hotels and restaurants would be permitted to serve beer and light wines only with meals and under very strict government regulation.

LOCAL OPTION PROPOSED
It is proposed that a bill covering this principle generally should be submitted to the Legislature with the provision that it would be enacted only by local option.

A community which desired a vote would then initiate it by petition in the same way as plebiscites on beer parlors are now obtained.

The adoption of this policy by the government kills, for the present at least, the bill introduced by the Victoria Moderation League.

SAYS HE WILL LEAVE CALIFORNIA

It is his announced plan to be carried out, William Randolph Hearst, publisher of a string of newspapers, will pull stakes and dispossess of all his property in California where he says the income and other taxes are too high.

Among his holdings is one of the largest ranches in the state. Above is one of his most recent pictures.

He would then initiate it by petition in the same way as plebiscites on beer parlors are now obtained.

MILDER DAYS ARE FORECAST

The minimum temperature in Victoria to-day was twenty-nine degrees, two degrees higher than yesterday. The cold north wind had subsided and milder weather is in prospect.

Conditions are gradually moderating all over the Pacific Northwest although it is still decidedly cold in the interior of the province and on the prairies.

At noon the temperature had risen to thirty-seven degrees, and it was steadily rising under the influence of warming sunshine.

EXTREMES FELT DURING MONTH

Victoria Had Both Warmest and Coldest October Days in Many Years
A drop of fifty degrees in temperature in one month was the remarkable record set up by the weather man during October, according to the monthly report issued this morning at the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill.

Victoria had some of the warmest and some of the coldest October days in its history. On October 2 the thermometer stood at seventy-seven degrees.

Yesterday morning it dropped to twenty-seven degrees—five degrees of frost.

The mean temperature for the month was fifty degrees, which was one degree above average, the report showed.

Rainfall during the month totaled 2.52 inches, which was 38 of an inch below the average.

The total sunshine for thirty days of the month was 141 hours and 42 minutes, which was eight hours above the average. With another eight hours to-day, Victoria will have lived up to her reputation as one of the sunniest cities in the northwest. For the last few months the sunshine has been above the average.

TEN-MONTH RAINFALL
The first ten months of 1935 has seen a total precipitation of 20.10 inches of rain. The yearly average is twenty-seven inches. January was the heaviest month for rainfall. A total of 7.27 inches fell that month. With two of the wettest months of the year still ahead, there is every probability that the yearly rainfall will be above the average.

LIBERALS TO END TITLES

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Premier King is expected to introduce a resolution at the next session of Parliament doing away with recently-resurrected practice of Canadians receiving titles.

Although he made no mention of the subject during the campaign he has made his position clear many times in the past.

Conservative Leader Bennett revived the practice of recommending Canadians to the King for titles the first being granted in the 1934 New Year's list.

BOAT WRECK INVESTIGATED

Attempt Being Made to Raise Sunken Craft at Chatham Island

Provincial police to-day continued their investigation of the boat wreck in Monday's storm, which is believed to have claimed the lives of Captain Harry Slatery and Jack Cain, Vancouver fishermen, aboard their fishing boat Mae West.

Yesterday evening Indian at Chatham Island, where the Mae West is beached in several feet of water, attempted to salvage the craft, and police had not been notified to-day whether or not they had succeeded.

With a prevailing north wind, the passage between Vancouver Island and Chatham Island continued rough to-day, and police were uncertain whether they would attempt a crossing in the Indian boat owned by Ned Williams, which has been placed at their disposal.

Williams agreed to come to the city to-day and notify police if he had been successful in raising the sunken craft, but late this afternoon he had not been heard from.

Police do not believe they will find any trace of the men in the sunken boat, they are anxious to raise the boat and moor it in Victoria waters.

SEARCH AT GALLIANO
Corporal D. O. Tweedhope, aboard the Police Motor Launch No. 6, also continued search of North Galiano Island in an effort to locate the body reported to have been washed ashore there on Monday night.

Charles E. Dornin, Seattle diver, who saved himself when his own power boat, the Sea Ranger, was dashed to pieces on the rocks at the east entrance to Plover Pass, returned to Seattle yesterday after his hectic experience.

It was Mr. Dornin who found the body on the north shore of Galiano Island, and reported his discovery to police. In his weakened condition (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

MORE CARS ON B.C. HIGHWAYS

Passenger and Commercial Registrations Show Gains Throughout Province
The number of cars on British Columbia roads continues to show a marked increase over last year, according to a statement released from the motor record office this morning giving figures up to September 30 of this year, compared with those of the same period last year.

There are 91,787 vehicles now operating on provincial roads, compared with 88,560 last year.

This increase is more noticeable among the passenger registrations than the commercial machines.

A total of 1,303 more new cars were registered this year while the renewals also took a big jump. The total of new and renewal passenger registrations in 1934 was 70,918, while this year it rose to 74,898.

The increase in the new registrations of commercial vehicles was 584. There were 15,642 commercial machines operating in 1934 and 16,899 this year.

Figures which are taken to indicate the activity in the sale of second-hand cars also show increases for this year. In 1934 there were 22,067 transfers recorded while this year there were 27,698.

TREASURY BILLS SOLD TO-DAY

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The Bank of Canada announced to-day on behalf of the Finance Department that tenders had been accepted for the full amount of a $20,000,000 issue of treasury bills due February 1, 1936. The average discount price of the accepted bids was 99.6750 and the average yield 1.305 per cent. Names of the tenderers were not disclosed.

Confusion Bordering on Panic Caused in Montana Capital To-day by Shocks Which Throw Down Some of Walls Damaged in October 18 Series of Quakes; Chairs Reported Turned Over in Tall Calgary Buildings

Associated Press
Helena, Mont., Oct. 31.—Scores of persons were injured, at least one was killed and several cities were jolted to-day in an earthquake that shook an area 500 miles wide spanning the Rocky Mountains.

The most severe earth movement since October 18, when Helena was badly shaken, it hit this city at 11:37 a.m., M.S.T., to-day, causing estimated thousands of dollars of damage and turning Helena again into confusion.

A man was killed in the fall of the Kessler Brewery smokestack west of the city.

Five deaths and damage estimated at upward of $2,000,000 resulted from the previous quake, which started October 18.

Two men were thrown from a scaffold at St. Mary's School to-day and were rushed to St. John's Hospital.

The new high school, badly split October 18, was believed to be a total wreck. Great rents appeared in the sides.

The Northern Pacific depot, badly hit thirteen days ago, was reported nearly demolished. The steeple, housing a clock, was tossed to the ground. Two workmen making repairs at the depot were hurt and were rushed to a hospital.

HOSPITAL SHAKEN
The sturdy Placer Hospital building was reported heavily shaken and persons rushed from offices above housing the Red Cross disaster and city relief departments.

People rushed into the streets from all buildings and residences amid much terror and confusion. Children, hardly recovered from the October 18 scare, were in tears and huddled close to their elders.

The fire department raced from its improvised quarters soon after the first shock.

CITY HALL DOWN
The ancient city hall, wrecked in the first quake was leveled.

A section of the Intermountain Union College gymnasium crumbled.

South Main Street, where numerous old buildings toppled into the street, October 18, and one man was killed, was badly hit.

Police quickly roped off emergency areas in the downtown section, which emptied almost instantly.

Hysteria threatened as scores of families immediately moved bed clothing, warm clothes and other quickly movable belongings into cars to make a hurried exit from the city.

PLASTER FALLS
The office in which the Associated Press bureau is located was jarred severely. Plaster fell and a crack was opened in the wall.

DECISION NOV. 6 IN BURRARD

Webster, C.C.F., Leading McGee, Liberal, in Vancouver By Two Votes, With Four Ballots Still to Come; Misrouted Ballots Cause Delay
Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Result of the federal election polling in Vancouver-Burrard, where Arnold Webster, C.C.F., is leading Mayor G. G. McGee, Liberal, by two votes with only four ballots still to count, will not be known until November 6, Returning Officer H. G. Phipps, announced to-day.

When Mr. Phipps sat to consider the matter he found the missing absentee ballots from Garrett in Alberni constituency had not arrived. The returning officer for Alberni riding, to whom they were sent by mistake, will not open his ballot boxes for his official check until November 4, when the ballots will be located.

INFORMED BY WIRE
The deputy returning officer at Garrett on election night advised Mr. Phipps he had four absentee ballots, three marked for Webster and one for McGee.

The count now stands Webster, 10,226; McGee, 10,224.

FOUR DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Inquiry at Cheyenne, Wyo., Into Commercial Machine Disaster
Associated Press
Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 31.—A mass of melted and twisted debris of a thirteen-passenger airliner that exploded after it struck a hill yesterday evening, killing its four-man crew, was scrutinized to-day by official investigators.

The tragedy brought to twenty-three the number of airplane fatalities in this state this year.

Instruments of the ship, which sometimes pilot a door to the top of the air, were either destroyed or carried away by souvenir hunters.

Conflicting stories faced Frank Caldwell, general manager of United Air Lines, owner of the craft, a group of other U.A.L. officials and Department of Commerce investigators.

ital and Ucco on the road between Adaga Hamus and Makale.

A fresh engagement was reported on the Somali front in which three Italian native soldiers were killed and two wounded. The Ethiopian casualties were placed at eleven dead.

The communique said General Emilio de Bono, commander-in-chief in East Africa, had liberated 16,000

Ethiopian slaves in the occupied territory.

By JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Addis Ababa, Oct. 31.—The Ethiopian government to-day announced capture of a lone Italian officer and his tank near Dolo, in Southern Ethiopia, as the only military news received from any front in the last twenty-four hours.

At the same time, the government said Italians were building an air base in the Danakil desert, northwest of Mount Mussa Ali and sixty miles from the Eritrean border.

The captured officer was reported to have been found, half dead from thirst, travelling north in his tank in search of water. Ethiopians said they gave him water but placed him in chains in a tent.

MANY JOIN FORCES

Meanwhile great waves of Emperor Haile Selassie's warriors continued to roll into Addis Ababa from the interior.

A government communique said Danakil tribesmen had attacked an Italian supply caravan October 25 near Mussa Ali, killing fifteen Italians and capturing twenty-five camels.

Officials to-day admitted the Italian forces had occupied Scillave, a town in southern Ethiopia south of Gorrabel.

By ANDREW BERDING
Associated Press Correspondent

Adigrat, Ethiopia, 430 p.m., Oct. 30.—Italys southern army beat off Ethiopian defenders, unconfirmed press dispatches said to-day, and penetrated to the vicinity of its next objective of Gorrabel.

The reports, issued from Mogadishio, Italian Somaliland, said the battle lasted several days between Gorrabel and Scillave, a fortified Italian centre. Dispatches did not estimate the number of dead or wounded.

Thousands of Italian troops and native Dubata were reported to have engaged in the combat, and to have swept aside successfully the Ethiopian warrior forces.

Native troops on the northern front, meanwhile, deployed tactically as far as Haussen—half way to the objective of Makale—and took possession of the famous natural fortress of Maba. The Ethiopian garrison retreated.

In a sharp action on the northwest border, the Italians crossed the Setti river, dispersed and drove back a concentration of Ethiopians at Nlag-hin.

The Fascist forces then recrossed the river and resumed the defensive on their side of the frontier between Ethiopia and Italy's colony of Eritrea.

Canadian Press from Reuters
Addis Ababa, Oct. 31.—Ethiopian official sources to-day they received information that the Italians were planning a smashing offensive from a point north of Mount Mussa Ali across the Danakil desert toward Dessie.

Airplane, infantry and cavalry would co-operate in the big push, these advisers said.

DECISION NOV. 6 IN BURRARD

SEVEN RECOUNTS

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Votes were so close that seven recounts are in progress or contemplated to decide candidates selected in the Dominion general election October 14. Liberals are appealing the counts of four returning officers and Conservatives three.

Results are chiefly important to the candidates and the ridings concerned. The country-wide sweep left the Liberals with a House of Commons representation so large it created a record.

Conservatives have launched their three appeals in constituencies where Liberals were declared elected by the official enumeration. Liberals are contesting the election of two Independent Liberals, a C.C.F. candidate and a Conservative.

Most of the recounts are being demanded by candidates beaten by a few votes but Achilles Jolicoeur, defeated Conservative in Portneuf, Que., has asked re-examination of the ballots giving Hon. Lucien Cannon, Liberal, a plurality of 801.

The closest vote was in Chapleau, Que., where Frank Blais, Independent Liberal, was elected by the returning officer's ballot when the count gave Blais and T. A. Lalonde, Liberal, each 3,004 votes. It was the second tie in Confederation and in the previous case, in 1927, the recount left it still a tie with the returning officer's ballot.

Recounts also are under way in Souris, where George MacDonald, Liberal, had a seven vote margin over E. F. Willis, Conservative; York West, Ont., where Peter Brown, Conservative, led J. E. L. Stewart, Liberal, by thirty-four votes in the official results.

Another has been started in Dorchester riding where the returning officer's count gave Leonard Tremblay, Liberal, a plurality of eighty-eight over Hon. Cassius Gagnon, Conservative. One is expected in Pontiac, Que., won by W. R. McDonald, Independent Liberal, with a majority of eighty-five over J. E. Piche, Liberal.

A McGee-Webster recount is expected in Vancouver-Burrard.

he was unable to pull it far enough out of the water when he found it.

Mr. Dornier spent a short time in the city yesterday before continuing on to Seattle, and when interviewed he expressed a desire to publicly thank the provincial police, particularly Corporal Tweedmore, for the assistance given and the consideration shown him aboard the police boat.

It was a hospitality the provincial force could be proud of, and he said he would never forget it.

SEEK DROWNING VICTIMS

Supervised by Constable A. G. Carmichael, the search for the bodies of Gilbert W. Duval and Dr. James Allan Fraser, drowned in Brentwood Arm on October 20, proceeded yesterday, but no trace of them was found.

Aboard one of Bob Stacey's boats, loaned to police for the search, Constable Carmichael scoured the shoreline around the arm, but without results.

FARMERS CALLING FOR TARIFF CUTS

Abolition of the sales tax, abolition of the tax on cheques of $10 or under and exemption of incomes up to a minimum standard of living were urged. Stacey's income tax and refunding of the public debt at lower interest rates were asked.

The Dominion Government was petitioned to reimburse farmers who sold their wheat prior to establishment of the Canadian Wheat Board at a price below the Wheat Board minimum.

Social Credit was voiced at the convention yesterday when delegates called for public ownership of the Bank of Canada, consideration of a managed currency and establishment of an investment board for protection of investors.

Calling Alberta's venture into Social Credit an experiment, the delegates called for a report on the budget of practically $100,000,000 annually, instead of the $15,000,000 they are finding so difficult to raise at present.

CO-OPERATION IN THE MEDITERRANEAN are regarded here to-day as signaling France's final abandonment of her friendship for Italy.

Undaunted by what is regarded as the heaviest blow of all, the supposed loss of France's support, Premier Mussolini hurried new defiance to-day at the "assembly of egoistic and plutocratic interests at Geneva, which is vainly trying to strangle young Italy."

"They had better know that the economic assault of the League of Nations, of which the whole civilized world should be ashamed, will be fought with all the fierce tenacity of the Italian people," he declared in a speech dedicating the new university here.

QUAKES AGAIN ROCK MONTANA

Men in the nearby composing room of The Montana Record-Herald read the first shock was followed within a few seconds by several others.

To-day's jarring tumbled a number of Main Street store fronts on to the pavement and workmen, who had been repairing earlier damage, fled from scaffolding.

Similar tremors were registered in Calgary and southern Alberta districts two weeks ago when an earthquake rocked Helena, Mont., taking a heavy toll in life and property.

At that time, on the night of October 18, no damage was reported in Alberta.

There was no damage reported here to-day.

CHAIRS FALL
The tremors were most noticed in downtown office buildings, high above street levels. Windows rattled, desks moved, chairs fell over and water in drinking fountains splashed about.

"It made me dizzy," said Miss Edith Garbutt, an office worker on the fourth floor of a downtown building.

H. R. Parnsworth, in the insurance exchange building, thought someone had pushed his desk, he reported. Similar experiences were reported in other downtown buildings.

In residential districts, householders reported furniture moved and pictures and wall mirrors started to swing.

FELT AT LETHBRIDGE
Lethbridge, Alta., Oct. 31.—A sharp earth tremor was felt here at 11.41 a.m. to-day. The tremor was of about ten seconds duration. It was described by people in tall buildings as quite violent as that felt at the time of the Helena quake two weeks ago.

Linotype operators in the Lethbridge Herald building felt their machines quiver.

Cardston, in the foothills country southwest of here, reported the shock as being of greater intensity than that felt here.

Bomber Crash Is Investigated

Dayton, O., Oct. 31.—A board of army air corps officers convened at Wright Field to-day to try to ascertain the cause of the crash of the Boeing bomber, largest and most powerful bombing plane submitted to the air corps for possible purchase.

A funeral service for the late Major Ployer P. Hill, chief of the flight test section at the field, will be conducted by Rev. Herman Page of St. Paul Episcopal Church to-morrow. The body will be taken to Newburyport, Mass., for burial there Sunday.

Major F. M. Hopkins Jr., assistant commander of the air corps engineering school, who served as airplane observer for Major Hill in Germany after the World War, will be the field's representative at the funeral service.

Major Hill died of injuries some hours after the crash. Four others were injured.

The board of inquiry, which is meeting behind closed doors, is checking and rechecking the plane wreckage in hope of finding some clue to the cause of the crash.

The report, when completed, will be sent to Washington for consideration by officers of the air corps.

KIDNAP SCARE DIVORCE CASE

Associated Press
Detroit, Oct. 31.—Police turned Detroit's short-lived "kidnapping mystery" over to the divorce courts to-day for a solution.

Mrs. Dorothy Hess McGraw, thirty-three-year-old bride of a month, whose husband reported her kidnapped yesterday evening, expressed indignation when officers took her into custody with a companion, Andrew Elgin of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. McGraw protested there had been no abduction, and asserted, police said, she already had filed divorce proceedings against her husband, a chiropractor with offices in Windsor, Ont.

CHURCHILL SPEAKS
Winston Churchill, who had a good deal of interruption, declared at South Chingford in Essex:

"When the credit of the country collapsed four years ago Lord Snowden appealed to the Conservatives to come and help him. They carried his budget for him and enabled him to finish his political career—and it's finished now, I think—without having at the end of it a pitiful, miserable, melancholy, disgraceful financial exposure."

"The Conservative Party picked him up out of his mess," said Mr. Churchill, "and made him appear a solid, responsible and august statesman of the British Empire. Do you not think it ungrateful of him so soon after he was rescued in this way to turn around and abuse all the new colleagues he found in the National Government just as bitterly as he abused his old colleagues four years ago?"

ROWDY SCENES
More rowdy scenes are reported from the north. Former Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald had two stormy meetings in Seaham, where he is waging a hard fight with the Labor nominee, Emanuel Shiwell.

Sir Godfrey Collins, Secretary for Scotland, and Ernest Brown, Minister of Labor, faced one of the wildest gatherings ever known in politically-minded Great Britain.

When Mr. Brown attempted to speak the crowd stamped their feet and sang the Internationale. Mr. Brown had to sit down.

Not for many years have both summer and winter weather been experienced in the same month. The first half of October was almost as warm as mid-summer and beach parties were popular. Furnaces were ignored and people spent much time in their gardens. During the last week, however, conditions have changed.

Despite warm sunshine each day the winds have been cold, fires have been stoked to the limit, and the sharp frosts have ruined practically everything in the gardens but the more hardy of the chrysanthemums.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 31 (Associated Press)—Sought by United States government officers since July on a charge of forging a government cheque for $47.50, a young negro shuffled into the secret service office. "Here I is," he announced to startled agents. "I'm tired running around where you all ain't."

Charity Appeal
By Chief Justice

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff appealed to the Canadian people yesterday evening to support the federated charity drives now in progress in many cities. He asked every Canadian to do his utmost to relieve unhappiness and distress.

"At no earlier period in human history," said the Chief Justice, "has the obligation which rests on the strong to succor the weak... been so widely, so freely acknowledged."

"The social problem that has been with us since 1929 is now presenting a new phase. Many of the hundreds of thousands who have passed through various stages between youth and maturity must be in deep perplexity when they ask themselves if the world has any place for them and their talents; if there is any room for en-

NEW DOLLAR BILL ISSUE IN THE U.S.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The United States government will issue next month a new dollar bill described by Secretary Morgenthau as "the hand-somest ever."

It will be a silver certificate and though the size will be the same as the present currency, there will be changes in design.

For the first time on any United States money, there will be printed a strip of both sides of the Great Seal, which was adopted in 1782, even before the constitution was drawn up. This seal will be on the back of the money.

DRUGGISTS' PRIZES WON IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Results of examinations of the Pharmaceutical Association of British Columbia, held here October 8 to 10 inclusive, were announced to-day by registrar Robert G. Stewart.

Lorne E. Wakelin, Vancouver, won the gold medal presented annually by T. M. Henderson to the candidate obtaining the highest total marks in the major examinations held during the year. Mr. Wakelin also won the chemistry prize awarded annually by the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works to the candidate obtaining the highest marks in major chemistry during the year.

Results included two Victoria candidates, W. T. Cotton and Sister Mary Yolande, who were granted major supplemental examinations in one or two subjects.

Year's Sentence Given Surgeon

Canadian Press
Quebec, B.C., Oct. 31.—Dr. Wallace A. Watson of Pouce Coupe, B.C., today was under sentence of one year without hard labor in the Oakalla prison following his conviction yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Joseph O. Tannhauser in the Pouce Coupe Hospital April 15.

Evidence was that Tannhauser was not examined by Dr. Watson until he had been in the hospital two days, also that the doctor was apparently intoxicated and made only a superficial examination. Dr. McRae of Rythe, Alta., was called and operated, but the patient died the next day.

Dr. L. Beckwith, testifying as to the autopsy, gave his opinion that Tannhauser's life could have been saved if an operation had been performed earlier.

Matron Crook testified Dr. Watson had done everything possible to save Tannhauser's life.

Dr. Watson told the court he could not get the patient's consent to an operation. The case was hard to diagnose, and he did not agree with that of Dr. McRae, who operated for appendicitis. Dr. Watson said the patient had an abscess in the region of the kidneys.

London, Oct. 31.—The second execution in England in two days took place to-day when James Grierson was hanged at the Pentonville Prison. The twenty-seven-year-old man was convicted of killing a sixty-two-year-old woman in a jewel robbery. A petition for clemency bore more than 200,000 signatures.

Raymond Bouquet, former Winnipeg boxer, was hanged at the Wandsworth prison Tuesday for the murder of Miss Hilda Meeks.

London, Oct. 31.—Australia, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa yesterday, through their respective high commissioners, gave notice they would be represented at the forthcoming naval conference, called for December 2. Japan yesterday announced acceptance of an invitation to the conference.

U.S. TRADE WITH ITALY FALLING

Government May Broaden
Measures Against Mussolini's Country and Ethiopia

Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 31.—The fact the United States Government is beating down harder than ever its efforts to "discourage" trade with Italy and Ethiopia caused informed observers to wonder to-day whether some new action may not be under consideration.

This speculation was aroused by President Roosevelt's statement yesterday, in which he hit at war profits and warned the government "is keeping informed as to all shipments consigned for export to both belligerents."

A short time earlier, Secretary of State Hull had said bluntly the United States is seeking to "discourage dealings" with the belligerents.

What the government might do to implement this campaign of "moral pressure" if the African war should stimulate a boom in United States exports destined for the warring countries, was a question officials did not answer.

Informed circles, however, speculated as to whether the administration would broaden its present arms embargo to include a ban on other commodities useful in the manufacture of war materials or in the conduct of war.

Major C. H. Douglas Not Expected to Return to Alberta This Year

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Oct. 31.—Major C. H. Douglas, reconstruction adviser to the provincial government, will not make a second visit to Alberta this year. Premier Aberhart announced yesterday.

Although the Premier had nothing definite to announce as yet, he expressed the hope it would be possible to call Major Douglas here before spring to assist the government in preparing a Social Credit plan.

As the two-year contract which the Reid government made with Major Douglas provided for a fee of $2,000 and expenses during each visit to the province not exceeding three weeks' duration, the province will be saved that additional amount if the economist does not return this year. He was last here during May of this year. Besides his $2,000 special fee for each visit, Major Douglas has a $5,000 general contract, one-half of which has been paid.

Paul Redfern, Believed
Alive in Guiana

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 31.—The start of a rescue expedition to seek Paul Redfern, missing United States flier, who may be alive in Dutch Guiana, appeared to-day to be less than two weeks distant.

"I have been advised Major Willis Taylor and his companions are prepared to fly from the Panama Canal Zone as soon as leaves of absence are granted," said William La Vaire, explorer and mining expert who recently brought back new reports of Redfern.

Redfern disappeared in 1927 on a barnstorming flight. It is believed he is in a native village far from civilization.

THE ROAD BACK

THE MOVEMENT FOR MR. BENNETT'S retirement from the leadership of the Conservative party, which observers have predicted would develop shortly, has begun. Toronto Saturday Night of October 26 had an editorial leading article which, although couched in terms worthy of the most finished diplomatic usage, actually asks the leader to efface himself.

"Mr. Bennett's devoted services to the country during the five years of his premiership, and his courageous and resourceful fight for his party in the last election," says Saturday Night, "have undoubtedly earned him the right to withdraw from the political arena in his own time and in his own way. But we question whether the interests of the party will be served by his remaining at its head during the process of reorganization which it must now undergo, and particularly during the selection of a new leader which will be the most important part of that process. A more neutral and less dominant personality would have a better chance of holding the balance even, while the conflicting elements and tendencies within the party test out their strength and prepare to compose their differences." The Toronto weekly suggests the appointment of an interim leader preliminary to the selection of a permanent head, and thinks Mr. Bennett should remain in his post as a sort of chairman of the board until party reorganization has been effected.

Saturday Night says that many things will have to be done in the reconstruction process "which it would be extremely difficult and embarrassing to do with Mr. Bennett still in command." It puts in the forefront the party's position on titles which, it says, will have to be revised. Appointment to the High Commissioner in London, in which Mr. Massey, the appointee of Mr. King, was replaced by Mr. Howard Ferguson, appointed by Mr. Bennett, will have to be regarded as a non-partisan matter. The party position on the subject of railway amalgamation, as reflected by Mr. Bennett in his latest broadcasts, which the Toronto journal implies was a negation of its earlier policy of opposition to the merger, will have to be changed. Finally, it insists that the party position on the Bank of Canada will have to be modified into "passive acquiescence in any moderate or reasonable measure of nationalization which may be enacted by the House and accepted by the Senate; opposition will be permissible on details but not on the general principle."

Hence, Toronto Saturday Night definitely recommends a New Deal for the Conservative leader in leadership and policy. Mr. Bennett should disappear gracefully as soon as reorganization has been completed; the party should revise its attitude towards titles in harmony with its previous record; it should commit itself against railway amalgamation; it should support the principle of nationalization of the Bank of Canada. As for the first recommendation of the Toronto weekly, there can be little doubt that Mr. Bennett's days as Conservative party leader are numbered. In his case, after Waterloo there is bound to be a St. Helena. Nor under another leader who would have sense enough to leave the matter to the decision of Parliament would there be much controversy within the party ranks over the abolition of titles. It was during the Premiership of Conservative Sir Robert Borden that this system went out of practice, and it stayed out under the Premierships of Conservative Arthur Meighen and Liberal Mackenzie King through a heavy parliamentary majority.

On the subject of railway amalgamation there will be poignant heart-burnings within the party ranks, for some prominent Conservatives strongly favor the union of the two transcontinental transportation systems, while others are against it. Mr. Bennett, who began his term with a ringing declaration of "amalgamation never," wound up with a vague course of minister significance on this question, while his attitude to the Canadian National Railways throughout was one of undercurrent hostility. Likewise, there will be a sharp division on the subject of the nationalization of the Bank of Canada, which was opposed by the entire Conservative following in the House when the proposal was made by Mr. Mackenzie King. But Saturday Night sees no other way out of the wilderness for the Conservative party than the adoption of the changes it suggests, and there will be a rapidly-growing volume of Conservative opinion in the country which will share its views. It no doubt would have added a recommendation that the party return to the principle of parliamentary supremacy and the abolition of bureaucratic government, but this is implied in the proposal of a change of leadership.

It would not be fair, however, to lay all the blame for the deficiencies of administration which resulted in the complete wreck of the Conservative party at the door of Mr. Bennett. His party, including its press, must share it in generous measure, for they did nothing to curb his tendencies to make the government of Canada a one-man, or a one-ring, performance. They could have restrained the dictatorial methods which were the product of his inherent qualities and convictions. They did not need to be rubber stamps. Indeed, so completely did they subordinate their will to that of the Premier that finally they allowed the Conservative party to be fully submerged and their election slogan was "vote for Bennett." Now they must back-track many weary miles, repudiate their leader and his policies, and perform many other painful contortions, to reorganize the party in such a way as to put it in touch with public sentiment again.

THOSE SANCTIONS

IT IS DIFFICULT TO ACCEPT THE VIEW that Canada's adoption of sanctions against Italy in her war upon Ethiopia can not be regarded as a precedent for the determination of her course in other international conflicts. As a member of the League of Nations and a signatory of the covenant she is bound by the terms of her pledge—embodied in Article XVI—to apply economic and financial sanctions against an aggressor member state. The fact that this was not done in the case of Japan and China does not mean that the sanctions provision is an elastic one to be used with nice discrimination inspired by any special interest. It was put in the covenant—of which it is indeed the very crux—as a means of preventing one member nation making war upon another no matter who, what or where that nation may be. If that principle is not adhered to the League of Nations merely becomes a racket in the interests of a few dominant members and Canada should not be a member of it. Indeed, if the League fell down this time it would quickly disappear into oblivion.

CANADA'S HARBORS

HON. C. D. HOWE, MINISTER OF Marine in the Mackenzie King government, has decided upon the abolition of Canada's port Commissioners and the administration of our harbors directly by a board of federal officials at Ottawa who will act without remuneration. Each port, however, will have a manager to advise the central authority of local matters. An exception is being made in the case of the Toronto and Hamilton divisions.

Since 1882 fourteen ports have been administered by Harbor Commissions. The first to be established was that of Three Rivers, Quebec. Belleville came into being in 1889, Montreal in 1894, Quebec in 1899, Toronto in 1911, Hamilton in 1912, Winnipeg and St. Boniface in 1912, Vancouver in 1913, New Westminster in 1913 and North Fraser in the same year, Trenton, Ont., in 1922, Chicoutimi in 1926, St. John in 1927 and Halifax in the same year. The harbors of North Sydney and Pictou, Nova Scotia, were formerly under the commission form of administration, but the legislation providing for commissions in these harbors was repealed several years ago.

All the commissions which are now to be abolished as part of the new government's programme of economy in the administration of the affairs of the country were constituted by a special Act of the Dominion Parliament, the number of commissioners varying from three to five. National property in the harbors was placed under the jurisdiction of the commission, while the commissioners also were authorized to acquire and hold real and personal property for the improvement and development of the harbors under their charge. An important stipulation, however, was that any property "acquired from the Crown may not be alienated or in any way disposed of by the commissioners without the consent of the Governor in Council."

Vancouver felt a little uneasy about the new plan; but the Minister has assured that city that its independence will be maintained in every sense under the new harbor regime. This is taken to mean, although Mr. Howe did not amplify his simple statement, that policies and development of harbor and port facilities will rest on the actual needs of the port.

Mr. Howe's reasons for the change of policy were given in a statement issued by him yesterday. He pointed to the tendency of some of the harbor commissions to spend money because it was available to them irrespective of the reasonable requirements of their ports. Altogether $150,000,000 have been made available to the commissions by Parliament, but with the exception of a small balance all of this sum has been spent. There was evidence, the minister said, of a competitive race between commissions for harbor improvements. Sectional views, he added, in many cases had taken precedence over national interest, and some activities had been a sheer waste of taxpayers' funds. In numerous instances, expenditures had been made without the sanction of Parliament and the authorization of the funds.

Mr. Howe appears to have made out a strong case for the abolition of harbor boards. He might have added another disability in the tendency to subject these organizations in some cases to the exigencies of political patronage.

MAY MEAN MUCH

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN GREAT Britain are only occasionally taken as the barometer of the political trend in the parliamentary sense. But when the voters of 361 county and non-county boroughs of England and Wales go to the polls to-morrow, the result, bearing in mind the Labor domination of the London County Council, may be of more than ordinary significance.

London, of course, will not be in the municipal picture to-morrow. Their borough council members are elected for three years—they do not have to appeal again for endorsement of their stewardship until 1937. Last year, the Labor party won its greatest municipal triumph, for, excluding the capital, it made a net gain of 257 seats and obtained the majority on forty councils.

The Laborites, indeed, captured such cities as Derby—the political "stamping ground" of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas—Hull, Oldham, Burnley, Birkenhead, Stoke-on-Trent, Mitcham, Tottenham, and Wakefield. The party won thirteen seats in Liverpool, nine in Manchester, eight in Bradford, and six in Blackburn, Preston and Salford. All these are intensely industrialized areas.

On November 14, Premier Stanley Baldwin, his erstwhile opponent, former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, likewise a former Liberal opponent, in the person of Sir John Simon, will ask the people of Great Britain to return to Westminster the "National Government" of Great Britain.

In the general elections of 1931, out of a House of 615 members, no fewer than 470 straight Conservatives were elected. This would seem to carry its own commentary on the "national" phase of the government which desires to be returned next month.

Just Folks

FEMINE SIGNS

When your little girl begins
Wanting waves put in her hair;
When the strangest sort of pins
On her frock she starts to wear;
When the manners of the old
Very quaintly she employs,
Plain this fact, although untold,
She's begun to notice boys.

When expectancy see springs,
Just as eager as can be,
Every time the phone bell rings,
Saying: "That may be for me!"
When the chatter endures flows
Till it irks you and annoys,
That's another sign which shows
She's begun to notice boys.

The geese honk over and make us melancholy—the guzzlers are still on top—the painter has a sense of rhythm—and we continue the old barbarism.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

HONK

THE WIND DROPPED for a while last night and as I stood at my door looking out and worrying about my coal bills, I could hear the honk of wild geese far away to the north. The sound came nearer and grew louder until it was directly overhead, a wild, fearless clamor, a kind of challenge rung out at the black sky and the bitter night by an advancing army. For a few seconds I could hear the rustle of strong wings as the flock went over in the darkness and then the sound gradually died away in the south. It made you think, standing there in the darkness, of that long flight from the far south into the northern wastes, where the geese breed. It made you feel a little lonely and a little futile, anchored down here to the ground while the geese fly free through the sky.

There is a strange fascination about this flight of the geese. No man who hears their honking or sees their great V across the sky can fail to be moved by it in some mysterious fashion. Down at Niagara this week they risked their lives and went to extinction, being swept down over the falls and a few who got caught in the whirlpool were revived by the police with brandy, with as much anxiety as if they were children. Such trouble would not be taken over any other flying creature but a migrating water fowl. For them the human animal, though he may eat them on occasion, has a profound respect, almost a reverence.

Why? Standing there and listening to the honk of the geese the other night, I wondered. I suppose it is because man, living an unnatural life, cooped up in his cities, his senses dulled, his appetites stunted, remembers dimly through the ten thousand years the days when he was free, too, to wander over the earth, to follow the sunshine and the warm summer.

Even the man traveling in an automobile, wearing a bowler hat and on his way to a cocktail party, looks up to the sky and sees the geese and wishes what he is, now he has lost his old fire and his old faith, and is humble for a moment.

The geese know where they are going. They never lose their way from the southern shores to the Arctic. They are dumb creatures, with brains no bigger than a cherry stone, but they know where they are going. The man in the automobile, with a large brain and ten thousand years of education, has no notion where he is going or why. That is the reason, though he doesn't realize it, that he pauses to watch the geese beating their way south, clomping with a wild joy as they go.

GUZZLERS

THE NEWSPAPERS report that the provincial government is having a good deal of difficulty to decide whether there should be a plebiscite on the sale of beer and wines with meals in public eating places. The difficulty springs not so much from the liquor itself but from the public's hypocritical, illogical and idiotic attitude toward it. Also the vested interests in the existing system are a strong obstacle to any change.

The best thing to do with wine and beer is to abolish them altogether. But it is the privilege of democracy and the most valuable part of freedom to do as it pleases. If democracy wants to guzzle wine and beer and spirituous liquors highly injurious to its health, that is the public's business.

It has decided to legalize the sale of liquor, a clear-cut and definite decision—but at this point enters the limp of hypocrisy. In order to save its puritanical conscience, the public decides that while liquor is legal and respectable—so respectable, indeed, that the government depends on it for a substantial part of the provincial revenue—yet it must be consumed in private and taken into the sanctity of the home, into the bosom of the innocent family. It must be hidden away in dark corners so that the public conscience won't be troubled.

Then, to add to the absurdity the public orders beer to be sold in dreary dumps where nothing else must be done except to guzzle, where no food may be sold, no music played; where it is now the habit of young men and women just out of their teens to sit all evening, absorbing as much liquid as they can hold, or more.

This suits the beer interests perfectly well. They make more money that way because if wine and beer were served with meals, people wouldn't drink so much. It also suits the clubs where beer is sold and they are solidly against any change. The forces of temperance likewise are against any "relaxation" of the liquor law.

Thus, as usual, you have the poor, misquipped prohibitionists, who always end by promoting the sale of liquor, innocently in league with the beer barons, the bootleggers and the beer clubs to promote the sale of beer. Most likely they will be strong enough in alliance, the extreme wet food the extreme drys, to prevent any change. Most likely the present guzzling, pub-crawling, beer-in-the-corner and crock-in-the-bedroom, flask-in-the-bedroom system will continue.

BARBARISM

SOME ENLIGHTENED British politician is going to introduce a bill into Parliament by which persons incurably ill and suffering acutely may arrange for a painless death. This will surely be a step in the right direction, but it is a step in the wrong direction if it is taken as a precedent for the introduction of similar legislation in the future. It is curious to note, meanwhile, how old-fashioned England is nearly always ahead of the world in social and progressive legislation just as it has been a generation in advance of America in such things as health insurance and labor laws, which, regarded as dangerously radical here, have been a commonplace over there for a long time.

Nothing could be more barbarous than our present convention by which suffering is systematically prolonged and men who devote their lives to the alleviation of pain are forced in the end to make it last as long as possible. This is done in the name of Christianity, whereas, of course, it is a relic of the deepest pagan barbarism of the cave age.

This grisly piece of superstition has been so grafted upon our whole social structure that society goes to endless trouble and expense to observe it. Here in British Columbia, for example, we spend any amount of money necessary to support, cherish and prolong the life of the hopelessly and violently insane. At Escondido they have monsters, born without a spark of intelligence, living in ghastly darkness lives lower by far than the ants and worms.

A sane civilization, the more realistic suffering is systematically prolonged and men who devote their lives to the alleviation of pain are forced in the end to make it last as long as possible. This is done in the name of Christianity, whereas, of course, it is a relic of the deepest pagan barbarism of the cave age.

The most serious defect, perhaps, a fatal defect in our whole western civilization, is not economic or political; it is the fallacy of always maintaining and encouraging the unfit, where nature's way is to keep the fittest strong by eliminating them. The result of our practice is to reduce the quality of the race. The present state of the world, the present state of art, philosophy, religion and all the other highest expressions of quality and intelligence suggests strongly to many observers that the decline already is well under way.

RHYTHM

WALKING ALONG one of our country highways to-day, I came across a man painting a yellow stripe down the centre of the road to guide the traffic. He worked in the biting north wind with an extraordinary care, making the edges of the yellow stripe as even as a ruler and pausing often to survey his work and make sure it was perfect.

It occurred to me, with a twinge of melancholy, that there were millions of invisible yellow streaks walking about the world but, that we only painted them publicly on our highways, but I didn't say anything to the painter about it. He went on working like an artist, as if he were painting a giant mural. He was, in fact, a true artist, and while his medium was humble, he adorned it with sincerity and skill. If life had been kinder to him, no doubt he would have been painting fine landscapes or portraits of the great.

OXFORD GROUP

To the Editor—A unique opportunity will be afforded the people of Victoria of hearing a man who has proved himself of outstanding ability, both as an author, a theologian and a lecturer, next Friday.

This man is the Rev. Geoffrey Allen, who will speak at the First Baptist Church, Quadra Street, at an open meeting arranged by the Oxford Group Movement, the meeting to begin at 8 p.m. Mr. Allen is on his way from England to Hongkong, where he is to fill an important post for the Christian Movement. Two of his books are "Tell John" and "Christ the Victor."

This meeting will afford an excellent opportunity for those who wish to hear more about the Oxford Group Movement and its world-wide work, especially amongst young people. Concerning this the Hon. J. C. Hambo, president of the Norwegian Parliament, himself an Oxford Group member, speaking at a luncheon tendered an Oxford Group team by the League of Nations delegates from forty-four countries at Geneva last month, said: "We have seen a light which will show us a way out of our difficulties, individual and national, and we can all be glad if we may be (Turn to Page 11, Col. 7)

PLAN TO HOLD SAFETY WEEK

Committee of Victoria Automobile Club Discusses Subject

Due to thirteen of his men being on duty in connection with the longshoremen strike, Chief Heatley will be unable to support the safety committee of Victoria Automobile Club in its proposed Safety Week programme, until the strike is cleared up, the committee was informed at a luncheon meeting yesterday at Speedie's Cafe.

The chief said, however, in a message to C. H. French, that he will be willing to co-operate as soon as the dock situation has been cleared up. It was decided that the committee would help the help of the police.

C. H. French, former chief of the Winnipeg police force, was introduced as a new addition to the committee by R. Kershaw, chairman. Mr. French, who is now living at Ten Mile Point.

Mr. French, who was authorized to see the city engineer on the question of the improvement of dangerous curves and blind corners on Dallas Road, reported that he had been given the satisfactory answer that the improvements desired would be put on the list of the city's $100,000 works programme. The decision will then be left to the City Council.

It was decided to bring to the attention of Chief Heatley the bad practice of motorists parking double on the streets in the city, and it was also recommended that the provincial police be approached for their co-operation in prohibiting parking on the Island Highway, where parking is not permissible.

Capt. T. J. Goodlake, secretary, reported the club will hold its next meeting on the last Tuesday of November.

It was announced that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Safety Week film has been obtained, and will be shown in one of the leading theatres during the local Safety Week.

Final Report Ends Campaign

"Y" Membership Drive Netted 288 Registrations, Valuing $2,789

The final results of the Y.M.C.A. membership drive, presented at the report meeting Wednesday, showed a total of 288 members with a value of $2,789 and $987.75 in cash.

Warren Martin, team major for group, was presented with a miniature Indian paddle as a symbol of his squad having attained the greatest number of members during the drive, representing the highest value and showing the highest cash returns.

Sam Hill was presented with a small Canadian flag for turning in the most membership pledges.

Hearty thanks were extended to those who had taken part in the drive by H. B. Witter, president of the Y.M.C.A. of Victoria, and E. G. Rowbottom, chairman of the drive. A final meeting of team captains will be held at the "Y" on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Norval Peterson led community singing with Vir Shoenaker at the piano.

The final returns from the drive show division Y, headed by Norval Peterson, E. Harrison, C. G. Fraser and Wilcox Billingsley, turned in eighty-one memberships, valued at $349.50, and returned $257.75 in cash. Division M, led by Warren Martin, Sam Hill, Rev. C. G. McKenzie and Rev. G. A. Reynolds, accounted for 116 memberships, valued at $1,115.50, and turned in $329 in cash.

Division C, under William C. Hudson, J. A. Heritage, W. M. Scott and Harvey Bailey, collected forty-one memberships, valued at $495, and turned in cash receipts to the value of $256.

Division A, skippered by J. V. Johnson, and captained by S. H. D. Clack, S. Winterbottom and Walter Jeune, reported fifty members, valued at $329, and showed a cash receipts of $145.

HOWE SOUND HOTEL BURNS

Canadian Press
Seaside Park, B.C., Oct. 31.—The only hotel in this resort on Howe Sound, fifty miles north of Vancouver, was in ruins to-day as the result of a fire which destroyed the three-story, thirty-two-room structure Tuesday evening with a loss of about $20,000.

Captain and Mrs. George Cates, owners of the hotel, and Allen McLellan, an employee, were the sole occupants of the place. They escaped but lost all their belongings. Help was summoned from the adjoining Rainey River Logging Company, but the flames were beyond control.

KEATING

Keating, Oct. 31.—Hugh Creed was elected president of Ward Six Saanich Conservative Association at the annual meeting held at Keating on Tuesday night. Others elected were as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. H. Lawrie; second vice-president, George Malcolm; secretary-treasurer, W. H. McNally.

John Allen of 2747 Graham Street has received the sad news of the death in Winnipeg of his brother, Andrew Allen, in his eightieth year. The late Mr. Allen was a visitor here several years ago.

KIPLING GROUP GETS CHARTER

Local Society, Only Branch in World, Honored at Meeting Last Night

Victoria's Kipling Society yesterday evening received official recognition by the central society in England in the form of a charter, accompanied by a message of welcome and congratulation from Major-General L. C. Dunsterville, C.B., C.S.I., who is himself one of the characters in "Stalky."

The Victoria branch is the only branch recognized by the central organization.

The members of the association also heard a highly interesting paper on the life of Rudyard Kipling and on some of his short stories, presented by Mrs. W. J. Noel.

In addition to recounting the chief events in the author's life, the paper gave an analysis of Kipling's character and of the factors which went to form it, a word picture of the man himself and a close study of his works.

The imaginative genius and descriptive powers of Kipling were well illustrated in the paper, with excerpts from several of his short stories.

READINGS OF WORKS

Part of the evening was spent in reading some of Kipling's works. A highly amusing short story entitled "The Arrest of Lieutenant Gollightly" and a poem, "My New Cut Ashlar" were read by T. A. Simmons. A. E. G. Cornwell read two poems by Kipling, "The Answer" and "The Devil's" showing the poet in two entirely different moods.

Mrs. Noel's paper was widely discussed during a question period which followed the readings.

Among guests at the meeting were: T. L. Penham, president of the Victoria Dickens Fellowship, and several visitors to Victoria from other cities.

Mr. Penham has plans for the Kipling Society and the Dickens Fellowship to hold joint meetings this season.

The society has acquired several books, which will serve as a nucleus for the formation of a society library. Until this has been collected, the society has been invited by Mr. Cornwell, who is president, to make use of his personal collection.

Mr. Cornwell has just received from Basil M. Bazley, editor of the Kipling Journal, a copy of Julian Ralph's book "War's Brighter Side," which deals extensively with Kipling's connection with the South African War.

The society has received from an anonymous Victoria woman a poem in tribute to Kipling which will be read at a special meeting to be held in December to mark the poet-author's birthday.

A. C. Wieland, Montreal, Dies

Montreal, Oct. 31.—A. C. Wieland, former manager of the Co-operative Society of London, England, and for years one of Canada's leading produce buyers, died here yesterday. He had been in retirement for several years.

MARTIAN MORE ADVANCED MAN

A being far more advanced than man, who could live in an atmosphere of little oxygen and had irrigated his rainless planet by building gigantic canals from the polar ice caps, was the picture painted of the inhabitant of Mars by Wilfred Hobday at the first winter meeting of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society in the Y.W.C.A. yesterday evening.

The meeting took the form of a debate between Mr. Hobday and A. I. Deacon, of Dominion Government Wireless Service, on the question of whether there was life on the planets or not.

Both of them labeled Mercury, Jupiter, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto as uninhabitable, and agreed that Venus had some sort of life but in an early state of evolution. However, they locked horns on whether there were Martians or not.

Mr. Deacon said there was no life on Mars and his main reasons were: Spectroscopic investigation of the planet failed to show any sign of water, leading to the belief the so-called polar ice caps were not ice at all. They were probably some form of salt crystals.

The "patches of vegetation" were colored sands.

35 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

Most astrophysicists agreed that the mean temperature of Mars was at least 35 degrees below zero. No form of life could live in 70 degrees of frost.

The canals were nothing but natural cracks or fissures similar to those which existed on the earth, particularly that which extended from Chile to the Straits of Magellan.

"These canals vary in width from one to twenty miles and in length from a few hundred to about 2,500 miles," Mr. Deacon said. "The lowest estimate of their total length is over one hundred thousand miles. It requires a good deal of imagination to believe that this elaborate network would be constructed on a planet with no lakes or rain to support such a system."

In attempting to prove the existence of life on Mars, Mr. Hobday traced the path of evolution. Life had begun in a uni-cellular form in water. As conditions on earth had improved, so life developed.

VENUS STAGE

In the carboniferous age of the great jungles the earth was screened by dense clouds which the sun could not penetrate. The internal heat maintained the surface temperature. This was the age through which Venus was passing.

As the vapor clouds disappeared, life had developed up to the present stage of human beings which were well suited to the earth's present condition. But there was no reason to believe that it would stop there. Life would continue to change with changing conditions, Mr. Hobday declared.

Due to the fact that Mars was a much smaller planet than the earth it had developed much more quickly, and life on Mars had progressed farther down the path of evolution than that on earth.

In order to substantiate this statement, Mr. Hobday touched on the physical aspects of Mars.

The mean temperature of Mars was 47.7 degrees Fahrenheit, according to Lowell. There was a scarcity of oxygen and water vapor on the planet, Mr. Hobday admitted, but believed that life could adapt itself to this situation. Commander F. R. Tingley presided.

This Shows WHY You Get Such Fast Relief from "ASPIRIN"

WHY "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST

Drop an "Aspirin" Tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches bottom of the glass it has started to disintegrate. What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Quick Relief for Headaches, Neuritis, Rheumatic Pains

The old adage says, "what you see you believe." So the nurse, pictured above, shows you two actual photographs to prove the quick action of "ASPIRIN."

Look at them, and you will see one reason why Scientists rate "ASPIRIN" among the fastest agents, now known or ever known, for the relief of headaches, neuritis, neuralgia and rheumatic pains. You'll see that an "Aspirin" tablet, dropped into a glass of water, starts to disintegrate, or dissolve, BEFORE it hits the bottom of the glass. Hence, it is ready to go to work almost instantly you take one. For what happens in that glass happens in your stomach when you take an "ASPIRIN" tablet. Relief comes in a few minutes.

Countless thousands know that about "ASPIRIN." Know by experience that it brings the quick relief you want when in distress.

Keep this in mind the next time your work or play is handicapped by a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain. Learn for yourself how fast you can get relief.

● "Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Jubilee W.A. Buys New Equipment

The expenditure of $100 for purchasing curtain rods for the Fleming Ward of the Jubilee Hospital to be used in connection with the curtaining of the beds, and of $97 for the buying of necessary equipment for the maternity floor were approved by the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital at the business meeting held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. Phethean, the president, was in the chair.

Mrs. Phethean, Mrs. Cecil French and Miss M. I. Curry were appointed to represent the W.A. at the hospital convention to be held at the Empress Hotel on November 13, 14 and 15. The report of the ball to be held November 13 showed that tickets were selling well.

Mrs. Henry Heisterman, the sewing convener, reported the two meetings held during October were very well attended and a goodly amount of sewing accomplished.

Mrs. P. E. Taylor, the dues convener, reported subscriptions received from Mrs. Russell Robertson, Mrs. E. Davis, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Scott-Moncrieff, Mrs. J. J. Collicott, Mrs. Hermann Robertson and Mrs. Alan Morrell.

Victoria West Y.P.S. Enjoyed Social

A lively Halloween social took the place of the usual meeting with the Equimault Y.P.S. as guests of the Victoria West United Y.P.S.

The evening began with an enjoyable singing, ably accompanied on the piano by Bert Hughes and later by Mrs. C. Milley. A welcome was extended to the visitors by the president.

Hilarious games under the direction of Jack Price, Glyn Jones and Cecil Milley were enthusiastically entered. Refreshments were then served by the young people.

A young people's rally for the modernizer's shield, which will be held in the Metropolitan Church on November 4, was brought to notice by the president. All members are requested to attend.

Weddings

FOLEY-JONES

On Tuesday evening, October 29, at 9.30 o'clock at the Metropolitan United Church, Rev. E. F. Church united in marriage Evelyn Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jones, Lampion Street, and Mr. W. T. Polkey of Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Polkey of Cowichan. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a smart ensemble in black and white and a corage bouquet of rosebuds. She was attended by Mrs. N. Jubb. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Harold Rawnsley. At the conclusion of the marriage service, a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Lampion Street, where friends and relatives of the bride and groom assembled to extend their felicitations. Mr. and Mrs. Polkey will make their home in Victoria.

HOME RECEIVES MANY BOOKS

Successful Tea and Shower Held at Aged Women's Home Yesterday

Over a hundred guests called at the Aged Women's Home yesterday afternoon and left tangible evidence of their interest in the shape of a number of books, which will augment the library facilities enjoyed by the inmates. The occasion was the annual tea and book shower, and many interested friends availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the Home, which has undergone redecoration inside and out during recent months.

Mrs. W. L. Clay, the president, assisted by two veteran members, Mrs. Wm. Grant and Mrs. I. A. Gould, welcomed the guests, the reception rooms being beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and autumn foliage by Miss Ethel Helmecken and Mrs. Rita Hughes.

Tea was served in the main dining-room at a table charmingly decorated with flowers and pretty appointments. Focusing tea was Mrs. D. C. Sabiston, assisted by Mrs. C. Sabiston, Mrs. H. Sabiston, Mrs. A. D. Whittier, Mrs. E. Heald and Mrs. E. O'Brien.

Mrs. Harold Grant was the general convener of the affair, and Miss Ann Robb, the matron, and members of the staff assisted in showing guests over the home, and also in serving tea.

Over seventy aged ladies are now resident in the home, and many of them received their friends in their own rooms, while the others joined the guests at tea.

Mrs. Clay and her committee, together with Mrs. Harold Grant, voiced their appreciation of the kindly interest shown in the home by all who had participated in this delightful annual function.

Mrs. W. M. Tompkins announces the engagement of her younger daughter, Ethel Norcross, to Donald Harvey, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Harvey. The wedding will take place early in November.

Mrs. George C. Clark, Trutch Street, returned at the beginning of this week from eastern Canada, where she has been visiting for a couple of months with friends and relatives in the Maritime Provinces and in Ontario.

Among the guests registered at the Dominion Hotel are: Mr. T. P. Houston, Winnipeg; Mr. P. Davis, Duncan; Mr. C. F. Hine, Vancouver; Mr. M. J. Little, Mr. N. L. Boyd, Vancouver; Mr. J. W. Thomson, Vancouver; Mr. Phil Jaynes, Mrs. J. Plett, Duncan; Mr. John Owen, Vancouver; Mr. J. Barberie, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller, Portland; Mr. T. E. Scott, Vancouver; Mr. W. H. Slater, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McMillan, Vancouver; Mr. C. F. Foot, Princess Maquima; Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Vancouver.

An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. E. W. Massick, 630 Dunedin Street, when Mesdames E. W. and E. H. Massick entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Jean Murray, R.N., whose marriage will take place early in November. The room was prettily decorated in red and white streamers. The gifts were concealed beneath the skirt of a large doll, dressed as a nurse. Later a buffet supper was served. The guests included Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. M. Haines, Mrs. G. Vaseh, Mrs. R. Webb, Mrs. C. Massick, Misses H. Anderson, M. Moore, K. Moore.

The Victoria City Temple Young People's Society held a very enjoyable Halloween social Tuesday at the home of Ralph Holt, McGregor Avenue, there being approximately twenty-five members present. The evening was spent in playing various Halloween games under the supervision of Ruth Hanson, Pearl Findlay, Ralph Holt and Andy Swatuk. The prize-winners were made to go to the haunted house to get them, followed by the rest of the society. Refreshments were served by the social committee under the direction of Dora Gascoigne. The next meeting is in charge of the literary convener and will be held on Tuesday, November 5, at 8 o'clock.

The membership and silver tea held yesterday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Vernon Villa, at the home of Mrs. T. Hughes, Richardson Street, was greatly enjoyed by both members and the many friends who made the afternoon such a gratifying success. Miss K. MacKay, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. E. C. Ayler, vice-president, assisted Mrs. Hughes in receiving the guests, and Mrs. McAllister, secretary, and Mrs. I. G. Trudel, treasurer, issued membership cards and received donations. Chrysanthemums in varying shades were in the decoration of the dining-room, a large silver bowl of marigolds and black privet berries, with pumpkin yellow candles, gave a Halloween touch to the prettily appointed tea table. The tea, convener by Miss E. O'Brien, was served by the Misses Agnes Nesbitt, Cecily Cooney, Elsie Monk and Mary Hughes. Presiding at the table during the afternoon were Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. P. T. Porter, Mrs. W. P. Regan, Mrs. Elsie Cameron. Delightful vocal selections, self-accompanied, were given by Mrs. J. C. Cicci, including "Flowers and Stars" and "I Wonder if I were a Rose."

Miss Helen McCueh, a popular bride-elect, was the guest of honor at a shower given at the home of Mrs. Alex. Grant, 2317 Blanshard Street, yesterday evening. The many attractive gifts were concealed in a sham-lusted pumpkin and presented to the guest of honor by Miss Agnes Grant. The room was seasonably decorated in Halloween colors, with lighted orange candles on the supper table. The guests included Mrs. F. F. Grant, Mrs. A. Gille, Mrs. P. Cannon, Mrs. J. Christian, Mrs. Wm. Champion, Mrs. J. Gardiner, Misses Helen McCueh, Willie Cannon, Helen Carlin, Margaret Horne, Eleanor Kinsinger, Pat McLernan, Dot Bece, Lena Gardiner, J. Kinsinger, "Kewpie" McLernan, Lucille Kinsinger, Mary Grant, Peggy Davis, Florence Davis, Betty Doran, Louise McChaux, Agnes and Margaret Grant, Elsie Collins.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. Change Play Date

On Monday evening St. John's A.Y. held its weekly meeting, which took the form of a business and initiation session. Owen Kerley, former vice-president of the A.Y. branch in Ladysmith, was welcomed to the meeting.

Through unforeseen circumstances the fall play, "Here Comes Charlie," has had to be postponed for one week, making the dates November 26 and 27. Margaret Bell will look after the wardrobe and costumes. The "teag" age girls of the church will have charge of the candy stall during the presentation of the play. The feature of this meeting was the preview of the forthcoming production, which already assures itself of a most popular reception.

The first half of the report of the provincial conference, held in Vancouver, was presented by the branch's two delegates, Miss Noreen Creelman and Mr. Harold Parrott. Much interesting information was acquired from this report. Mr. Harold Parrott was elected to represent the branch at the monthly meetings of the Local Council.

Florence Malcom was then officially installed as branch treasurer. Rev. Canon Chadwick presided over the initiation of eight new members: Misses Jean Jackson, Marjorie Tomlinson, Marjorie Dickson, Rosemary King, Emily Aspinwall, Messrs. Brian Fintoff, Albert Price and William Creelman.

Before the meeting closed Mr. J.

BEER AND WINE MEASURE AT NEXT SESSION IS PLAN

least, any idea of a general plebiscite on the question of modifying the liquor laws. Many of the Liberal members went home from the last session with the idea that such a vote would be taken this year.

However, those within the councils of the government remember the experience of 1924 when a general beer plebiscite resulted in beer by the glass being turned down and a bitter fight ensued over the local option plan.

The final decision of the government to turn down the Victoria petition came after several weeks of consideration. Within the cabinet ranks there was disagreement not only on the principle of modifying the liquor laws, but also on how it should be done. It is no secret that the Premier himself favors extension of the privileges.

STATEMENT ISSUED

In announcing the government's decision the Premier made the following formal statement:

"With reference to the large petition of citizens of Victoria requesting the government to institute the sale of beer and light wines in standard hotels and restaurants, or in the alternative the holding of a plebiscite, I do not think that the present Liquor Act is sufficiently broad in scope as to justify the government to institute the sale of beer and light wines as suggested."

"With regard to the holding of a plebiscite, it has been decided not to grant the petition for a plebiscite at the present time, notwithstanding that the petition is so largely signed, as the whole question will come up for review at a later date."

CONFERENCE YESTERDAY

Officials of the Moderation League, with whom the Premier had a final conference before announcing his decision, expressed disappointment at the result. They had secured a petition signed by close to 23,000 people asking for the change.

It had previously been made clear, unofficially, that the Liquor Act was not wide enough for the government to give beer and wine rights without new legislation. The refusal of a plebiscite of any kind, however, caused disappointment among those pressing the scheme.

TWO-MINUTE SILENCE ON ARMISTICE DAY

The King has approved of arrangements whereby two minutes silence will be observed throughout the British Commonwealth at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of Remembrance Day, November 11, and accordingly Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities are asked to arrange for the suspension of all vehicular traffic during those two minutes.

FOUR DIE IN PLANE CRASH

the plane," said John Terrill, highway officer, who was about two miles away.

"Suddenly we heard the explosion as the liner hit, and we saw a streak of flame light the sky. We jumped into a car and hurried there."

INTENSE HEAT

"The heat was so intense we could not get the ship immediately. Finally we got blankets and beat out the fire around two of the charred bodies and pulled them out of the twisted mass."

Captain George Smith of the highway patrol, pursuing several miles away, said he had heard the plane, and its motors sounded all right.

BODIES CHARRED

Bodies of the victims of the crash, M. T. Arnold, thirty-five, chief of test pilots at Cheyenne U.S.A.; M. T. Arnold, thirty-five, chief of test pilots at Cheyenne U.S.A.; M. T. Arnold, thirty-five, chief of test pilots at Cheyenne U.S.A.; M. T. Arnold, thirty-five, chief of test pilots at Cheyenne U.S.A.

Caldwell said the men had taken the plane on a test flight after it had been reconditioned, and had been cruising about twenty-five minutes in a light snowstorm.

The accident occurred about twenty miles from the scene of the crash of a United Air liner October 7, in which twelve persons perished. At Washington to-day the Bureau of Air Commerce decided that the tragedy was caused by an error in judgment of altitude or distance on the part of Pilot H. A. Collison,

PRESS ATTACKS ARE PROTESTED

London, Oct. 31.—Great Britain today made new representations to Premier Mussolini against the continuation of attacks on it in the Italian Press, high authoritative sources announced.

London Also Calls on Italy to Cease Anti-British Radio Propaganda

Similar representations were made in regard to the alleged anti-British propaganda on the Italian radio.

At the same time, the British government issued a warning against trade with Italy, in advance of the League of Nations meeting to set the date for enforcement of economic sanctions against the warring Fascist nation.

Some British circles believed the warning might cause almost complete cessation of trade between Britain and Italy, even before the economic sanctions, cutting off imports from Italy and exports of certain key products, were in force.

A statement by the Board of Trade estimated Italy's trade debt to Great Britain at more than £1,000,000 ($4,910,000). Actually, authorities estimated, a sum of more than £2,000,000 ($9,820,000) still awaited transfer to London.

Against this, there was little more than £1,000,000 to the credit here of Italian exporters, leaving a net deficit of about the same sum.

It was understood, however, that the terms offered covered only about half the difference between the old and the new price lists and many felt more favorable terms might have been offered.

The company will issue a statement.

TWO MISSING IN SNOW DRIFTS

Drumheller, Alta., Oct. 31.—(Globe and Mail.)—A search party, sufficiently deep to bury an automobile, may hold the secret of the disappearance of Rev. H. Young, sixty, and his wife, unreported since they left the vicinity of Morris Ferry, northwest of here, Monday noon.

Lumber Clash In Great Britain

Directors of Timber Distributors Resign as Russian Imports Argued

London, Oct. 31.—All seven directors of Timber Distributors Limited of London are tendering their resignations following an informal meeting of shareholders here yesterday.

According to The Morning Post, the resignations are a sequel to difficulty understood to have been experienced by the company earlier in the season in disposing of 400,000 standards (73,000,000 cubic feet) of Russian timber for the importation of which contracts had been made.

(Timber Distributors Ltd. was registered in March, 1931, with the object of arranging for the importation, sale and distribution of Russian timber through specific companies.)

It was understood that the company, faced with the threat of uncontrolled exports from Russia, revised its price list and brought into operation an arrangement providing, in the event, that the purchasers of the first 300,000 standards would be given the benefit of the retrospective "fall clause."

In this way the original purchasers would be reimbursed for the loss which would otherwise have resulted from their having contracted to take supplies earlier in the season. (The "fall clause" provides for a reduction in the contract price if economic conditions "force" such a step.)

It was understood, however, that the terms offered covered only about half the difference between the old and the new price lists and many felt more favorable terms might have been offered.

The company will issue a statement.

Italy Ready to Negotiate Peace Plans

Italy would be encouraged to think earnestly of the advantage of peace in east Africa over a continuance of war—and an ensuing world-wide economic campaign.

The general situation, however, presented the aspect of stalemate, sparring for positions with reluctance to admit that any party was disposed to make important concessions.

SAYS HE WAS INVITED

Italian circles announced Baron Aloisi was coming at the special request of the British and French governments. This the British denied.

The Italians in turn denied Baron Aloisi was bringing fresh proposals considerably milder than those presented during the futile tri-power peace talks at Paris.

League leaders forecast tremendous difficulties in going far beyond the committee of five peace plan for international development of Ethiopia which Duce rejected.

Any additional concessions to Mussolini, leaders said, must be counterbalanced by other concessions to Emperor Haile Selassie, including an outlet to the sea.

CONTRACTS WITH ITALY

The League's committee of fifteen made a technical examination of the replies from various governments on the question of sanctions and spent an hour discussing how to handle existing contracts with Italy.

It adopted a Spanish proposal that any contracts with Italy or Italian firms which were fully paid up to October 15, the date on which sanctions were voted, can be fulfilled without violation of the sanctions obligations.

One complication concerns the compensation in agreements where nations have a trade balance with Italy in their favor and would like to import sufficient goods from Italy to maintain this balance.

League officials denied the failure to discuss a date for the enforcement of economic boycott implied hesitation.

APPROVE MEASURES

The number of countries accepting the arms embargo mounted to forty-five, those accepting financial sanctions forty-three, and those declaring their readiness to enforce economic sanctions—a "buy nothing from Italy" boycott and an embargo on shipment of certain key products to Italy—forty-two.

Adhesions to the mutual assistance proposal for equalization of burdens among countries participating in the economic war against war reached thirty.

Panama accepted all five sanctions proposals, but made reservations concerning application in respect to private contracts, commercial treaties and pacts of friendship and non-aggression.

PEACE EXPLORATION

An assertion by Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary of Great Britain, that he was coming to Geneva for "further soundings," indicated clearly that peace possibilities were not ignored amid the sanctions preparations. Unofficial reports of Italo-Ethiopian conciliation and peace rumors were so numerous the general Geneva atmosphere presented a confusing aspect.

Disintegration Starts

League economic experts said they could detect already the beginning of a serious disorganization of Italian financial and economic activities, taking two cases:

1. In view of the unsettled conditions, they said, one New York company had started to buy certain kinds of oil from Spain, instead of from Italy.

2. The Belgian textile industry had suddenly received from foreign countries orders for tissues which League experts said had been placed hitherto in Italy.

Associated Press

Paris, Oct. 31.—Premier Laval conferred to-day with both Vittorio Cerutti, Italian ambassador to France, and Sir George Russell Clerk, British ambassador, just before his departure for Geneva to renew further direct negotiations with Italian statesmen in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Officials professed ignorance of what was discussed. They said, however, that the outlook seemed to be for "sanctions first, and hope for peace."

"Peace will be made. It will be made despite malevolent discretion, spiteful controversies and misleading reports spread by circles calling themselves authoritative," the Premier was quoted by diplomatic correspondents.

"Bad news only confirms me in my conviction."

M. Laval's forthcoming Geneva conference with Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare and Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy were to be the first meetings of fully accredited representatives of the three nations since the breakdown last August of the Paris peace talks.

Associated Press

Rome, Oct. 31.—Italian students shouting "Down With England" demonstrated outside the British embassy here to-day as Italian authorities looked toward Germany and Austria for working agreements as a result of Italy's difficulties under League of Nations sanctions.

Italian authorities, according to Great War friendships fading, looked to-day to Germany and Austria to furnish the coal, iron, steel and other products needed in event of a League of Nations boycott.

Authorities said they were watching closely the attitude of New World countries, the resources of which might see this nation through its contest with the League.

FROM U.S. TO BRAZIL

Fascist economists pointed out the United States and Brazil alone, as non-members of the League, could, if they wished, supply Italy with all the necessities for its civil population.

Calling November 5 the day of "reply to sanctions," officials observed ironically:

"This date also marks the first day of peace with England."

Italy signed her armistice with Austria September 4, 1918, and thereby furnished the turning point in the Great War.

Now, the officials said, the date will mark "the first day of discipline of food supplies with which Italy, the same Italy of 1918, of victory, showed its wishes to respond to attempts to impoverish her, imposed by her ally, Great Britain, and accepted by her ally, France."

Geneva, Oct. 31.—(Associated Press).—Headed by Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, the British delegation arrived this morning prepared to participate actively in imposing an economic boycott on Italy.

An authoritative source indicated Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, due to-morrow, will probably make a "statement" rather than a formal speech.

This source forecast the statement would be a summing up of the "peace explorations" conducted recently in an effort to seek a basis for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

London, Oct. 31.—(Associated Press).—High sources revealed to-day that Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador to Italy, called on Premier Mussolini yesterday and advised Duce that Britain cannot relax its watch in the Mediterranean as long as the present situation remains unimproved.

Sir Eric explained further the Italian withdrawal of one division of troops from Libya was satisfactory as far as it went, the informed spokesman continued, but the fact remains that the troops still there are greatly in excess of normal strength.

Observers believe the Geneva lull, terminating to-day at its most critical period, will be followed either by definite improvement and progress toward peace or a new crisis.

The key to what will happen they believe rests in the hands of Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, who departed to-day for Geneva to consult Premier Laval of France, and others to form a basis on which peace terms can be proposed.

STIFFENING EXPECTED

His departure coincided with indications that the British expect a stiffening instead of a relaxation of League of Nations members in opposition to Duce's aggression.

The possibility was acknowledged in informed quarters that the Geneva talks may lead to a virtual ultimatum to Mussolini warning him there will be no rewards for his invasion of Ethiopia when peace is finally restored.

used as instruments to draw people, individuals and nations near to that light."

A. E. AVERILL, Rockland Court, Oct. 30.

SECTION 98

To the Editor:—Some time before the recent election, I expressed my opinion, through the courtesy of your columns, on the iniquitous section of the Criminal Code known as No. 98, and was roundly taken to task by Mr. R. D. Harvey in an answering letter. A further exchange took place, and the matter terminated on a question from Mr. Harvey as to whether I would impugn the impartiality of British justice, which, according to him, is the admiration of the world. I might, at that time, have made the obvious remark that if section 98 is typical of British justice, the admiration of the world might be better employed with a worthier object. But this would only have been a dreary and futile reiteration.

In order, however, to answer Mr. Harvey's question, let me ask him to refer to the trial, conviction and sentence of William Squires, which recently took place at Burnaby. If he will examine the whole of this case in every detail, not only should he feel agitated at the vindictive ferocity of the sentence, but he will also know my opinion of the administration of the law. It is the same opinion which I and many thousands of others have held since learning of the late federal government's attempt to murder political prisoners and that privation by torture is not unknown in our penal institutions.

"BELIEVER IN DEMOCRACY."

BEER AND WINES

To the Editor:—It is earnestly to be hoped that the Provincial Government will quickly set in favor of granting facilities to hotel and approved restaurants the "right" (and the "privilege") of serving the public with beer and wines, as per the overwhelmingly signed petition recently submitted by Victoria residents.

I note by the front outside cover of the London Weekly Times of October 10, that in the advertisement of London's newest and most up-to-date hotel, namely the Mount Royal, situated close to the Marble Arch, the following explanation of "hotel service" is offered:

"The restaurant and snack bar are open to the public and wines are served at the ordinary retail prices from the off licence, which is on the premises. Afternoon teas are served in the lounge."

I quote this to show that the liberty of the subject is still very much in vogue in the Old Land. I would also venture to say that the "conduct" of the public, under such open conditions (afternoon teas, included) as announced in the Mount Royal's advertisement would be "par excellence." Here we have too much selfishness. "Some" (I do not say "all") beer parlor proprietors want to "sell" for themselves, and "sell" as they like—they are governed by a super-selfishness and with no genuine consideration for the public at large.

I trust the government will exercise their own God-given common sense and "serve" the public for

Hudson's Bay Move Ahead In Wednesday Football Campaign

Barnswell Nets Three Goals To Beat James Bay

Is Star in 4 to 2 Victory; Departmentals Are Four Points in Lead

SPENCERS-NAVY REGISTER WINS

Hudson's Bay footballers moved into a four-point lead in the Wednesday Football League championship race for the Hayward Cup yesterday afternoon by handing the James Bay Wanderers a 4 to 2 setback at the Athletic Park. In the other two engagements the victories were decisive, Spencers walloping Kreges 6 to 1 at Heywood Avenue and the Navy defeating Saanich United 6 to 0 at the Naval Recreation grounds.

The Navy are now in first place with a four-point margin over Spencers. Navy and Wanderers who are in a three-way deadlock for second position. Kreges and Saanich follow, four points behind the runners-up. With the match played in bitterly cold weather yesterday the crowds were small.

SCORE FROM PENALTY
After twenty minutes of the first half during which time the Navy had the better of the play the departmentals went into the lead when a penalty was called against Jack Caddell for hands. Barney Barnswell scored from the shot with a shot to the corner. For the remainder of the half play was fairly even and just before the interval the James Bay squad managed to deadlock the count. Bedford converting a cross from Bourne.

Early in the second half the Hudson's Bay again took command when Barnswell scored from Stewart's pass. The James Bay forwards stormed their opponent's goal but fine work by O'Connell and Wyatt, Hudson's Bay backs, kept them at bay. Another penalty gave the Hudson's Bay their third goal. Eastwood used his hands to block a shot from Barnswell and a spot-kick was awarded. Barnswell again converted. After the James Bay eleven had worked desperately to score the Navy broke fast and Stewart scored from Fish's centre. Minutes before the final whistle Speller took a pass from Fieldhouse to net the Wanderers' second counter.

THE FUTURE
The future will be at 2:30 o'clock. If the referees' board considers the grounds unsuitable the games will be called at noon on Saturday. Teams will be notified by their respective managers.

SPENCERS WIN
In a runaway match that developed into a burlesque in the second half, Spencers handed Kreges a 6 to 1 licking, after setting up a 2 to 1 lead at half-time on the Heywood pitch.

Playing with ten men, Kreges opened the scoring in the first minute of play, when Sam McKenzie drove home a shot from close in.

Spencers came right back and Nicol equalized in the quarter before Bernie Clarke headed in a pair to give the departmentals a 3 to 1 lead at half-time.

In the second half, as the players started to use their hands with reckless abandon, Nicol, Les Bradley and Clarke tallied in short order to add to Spencers' total.

McKenzie scooped up a ball well out and ran through to leave it into the net as the teams became more frolicsome.

Davies refereed, and teams followed: Spencers — Stewartson, Munro, Turner, Mall, Chapman, Clarke, Brown, L. Bradley, Cann, Nicol and D. Bradley.

Kreges — Coats, Jack, McLeish, A. McBride, White, D. White, M. McC.

Bridge, Hall, McKenzie and Dunn. Navy displayed a decided edge over Saanich United as they rolled up their 6 to 0 victory.

During the opening canto, De Costa scored twice before Marr and Walker rapped in another pair to put the game on ice by the interval.

Walker and De Costa missed good chances as the second half opened. On another driving shot, De Costa nearly broke the Saanich goalie's hands.

Watt finally broke into the scoring lists, and Marr wound up the goal-getting with a smart tally.

As the game dragged on, players became stiff with cold, and shots on goal were thoroughly erratic.

Dave McMillan refereed, and the teams lined up as follows:
Navy — Mundie, Dovey, Kennedy, Mann, Robinson, Hutton, Hibbert, Marr, Watt, De Costa, Walker.

Saanich United — Connor, Travers, Bailey, Stoner, Moir, E. Bailey, Constable, Smith, Newell, Emery, Alcock.

SET REFEREES FOR SATURDAY
Rugby Games to Be Played Here If Grounds in Fit Condition

Despite frosts of the last three days' officials of the local rugby union continued plans for Saturday's games on the understanding they would be played unless J. B. Acland, head of the referees' board, declared the grounds unplayable on Saturday morning.

Referees were assigned as follows for the different fixtures to-day:
SENIOR A
Navy vs. Garrison—Upper Macdonald Park, Referee, Aubrey Walls.

Scottish vs. Bays-Wanderers—Lower Macdonald Park, Referee, John Grant.

SENIOR B
Garrison vs. Navy — Work Point Barracks, Referee, Chief Stoker Thomas.

INTERMEDIATE
Wanderers White vs. Fifth Brigade — Oak Bay Park, Referee, Dan Moses.

Wanderers Blues vs. Scottish—Oak Bay Park, Referee, Lieut.-Commander Knowlton.

All games, with the exception of the senior B fixture, will start at 2:30 o'clock. The B fixture will be at 2:30 o'clock.

If the referees' board considers the grounds unsuitable the games will be called at noon on Saturday. Teams will be notified by their respective managers.

ICE GOSSIP

Even the goalies are having to take it like it these days, as National League teams lay it on in strenuous exhibition and practice games. There is little merriment shown anyone when the hockeyists battle for their jobs.

Someone crashed into Lorne Chabot so hard the other day the Chicago Black Hawk netminder probably will be on the sidelines when the schedule opens in a week. He is being treated in a Chicago hospital for a displaced knee cartilage.

George Hainsworth, Toronto Leaf net guardian, broke a rib when he collided with Red Horner during a conditioning soccer game. He was out for a skate yesterday, and expected to be well enough to-day to get back into harness.

Montreal Maroons and Philadelphia Ramblers met in an exhibition game yesterday evening at Winnipeg. Fourteen penalties were handed out, one of them a major to Lionel Conacher, Maroon defenceman, for opening a two-stitch cut on Joe Cooper's eye.

Sammy McManus, the former Moncton Hawk, scored two goals as the Ramblers won 3 to 1. Bob Kirk beating Bill Beveridge for the other. Steve Evans got the Maroon tally.

Babe Siebert, veteran Boston defenceman, could not keep out of the penalty box at Moncton, and Montreal Canadiens won an exhibition with the Bruins 3 to 2, with Aurel Joliat beating Tiny Thompson for the winning goal with only six minutes to play.

No punches were pulled when two squads from the Black Hawks, the "Blacks" and the "Tans" played at Champlain. Bill Manager, Clem Loughlin, who refereed, refused to call penalties, and the players put on the roughest game of the training season before the "Tans" won 7 to 6 in overtime.

New York Americans gave Normie Himes, a star centre for years, his unconditional release yesterday evening, and he is reported to Toronto Leafs have asked waivers on Andy Blair, Howie Morenz, earlier reported to have had salary difficulties with Chicago, played at Champlain yesterday evening and scored one goal.

HIMES GETS HIS RELEASE

Veteran Centre Is Made Free Agent By New York Americans Hockey Club

Oshawa, Ont., Oct. 31.—Normie Himes, veteran centre star of New York Americans, regarded as one of the best play-making and defensive centres in the National Hockey League a few years ago, has been unconditionally released.

Manager Red Dutton announced yesterday.

Himes came here to try out with the team and was ready to start his eleventh season in New York livery when he was released. The veteran left at once for his home in Galt, Ont. His plans for this season were not known.

Oldest player in point of service with the Americans, Himes turned professional with the club ten years ago, making the jump from the Galt senior team of the Ontario Hockey Association. He was the team's most prolific scorer over a period of years.

Clint Smith Is Hockey Holdout

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Clint Smith, Saskatoon athlete, who led the Vancouver Lions and the Northwest Professional Hockey League in scoring last season, is a holdout from Guy Patrick, Lions' manager, announced yesterday.

"Smith wants a contract just double that of last year," Patrick said. "If he doesn't sign by Saturday I'll have him suspended."

The Lions will have their first workout of the season to-morrow.

GIRL CAGERS VISIT CITY

Shaw-Stephens Basketball Team of St. Louis, Mo., Here En Route South

Victoria was honored yesterday by the visit of eight smart-looking young ladies and two gentlemen, representing the Shaw-Stephens American Legion Basketball quintette of St. Louis, Missouri, who arrived in the city yesterday aboard the Vancouver boat.

The team is touring a number of cities in Canada and the United States. In its last series of matches they took place in Edmonton against the Edmonton Grads, internationally-known girls' basketball team, they were defeated in three straight games for the famed Underwood Trophy. The Shaw-Stephens quintette was runner-up to the Tulsa, Oklahoma, squad, winners of the United States title.

One disappointment met them on their arrival. They were anxious to secure souvenirs of the city to take back home with them and were handicapped through the stores being closed. Their stay in the city was short as they left on the Seattle boat.

Traveling along with the team, which is coached by Eddie Davidson, was Ray Gillespie, sports writer for The St. Louis Star Times.

The young ladies were exceptionally pleased with the city, even although their stay was short, and when asked what they liked best about it, they used such expressions as this: "I like the scenic autumn beauty." "I like the pleasant quietness of the city."

"The cleanliness of the city is wonderful." "It's that lovely bit of Old England that gets me."

The team included: Mary, Katherine and Dorothy Duker, Betty Carpenter, Mary Rudis, Alois Mertensmeyer, Bernice Frillman and Helen Moon.

The party is now on its way to Seattle. From there they will go to Portland, then to San Francisco, where they are scheduled to play a game or a series of games. In Los Angeles they will be the guests of Ernie Orsatti, outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The team will play a final match at the San Diego Exposition, and from there they will return to their home town.

The club expects to be back in Victoria again next year, probably late in August or early September, when they are in hopes of arranging a series of games.

YOUNG TORONTO ATHLETE DIES

Fourteen-year-old William Freeman Passes as Result of Football Injury

Toronto, Oct. 31.—William Freeman, fourteen-year-old East York Collegiate student, died yesterday from injuries suffered while playing football in the schoolyard. The death was the first football fatality in Toronto for many years.

M. D. Hagar, physical training instructor at the school, said Freeman was injured during a pick-up game Monday. He was not a member of any team.

Arthur Lewis, a classmate and close friend of Freeman, was running with the ball when Freeman tackled him. He pulled the ball-carrier back, Lewis falling on Freeman. His death was caused by a ruptured aorta.

Perth, Australia, Oct. 31.—The Marylebone Cricket Club team touring Australia and New Zealand started a three-day match here to-day against a team representative of West Australia. When stumps were drawn for the day the English players had compiled 293 runs for seven wickets.

Denis Smith, Derbyshire, hit up 83 and N. S. Mitchell-Dimes, Oxford University, 54.

LIONS SEEK DEWAR
Moore Jaw, Oct. 31.—Vancouver Lions of the Northwest Hockey League have offered Tommy Dewar, young Moose Jaw defenceman, a professional contract for the 1935-36 season; it was learned here to-day.

Dewar recently returned from the hockey school conducted by the New York Rangers at Winnipeg early this month.

Major Ice Teams Lay On Hickory

Fourteen Penalties Seen As Montreal Maroons Lose to Philadelphia Ramblers in Winnipeg Exhibition; Chicago Hawks Lose Lorne Chabot With Injured Knee; Canadiens Whip Boston back on their heels, 3 to 1, yesterday evening in a little hockey struggle. It was the first of a two-game exhibition series.

With play slowing down, Maroons moved to the attack, within two minutes Steve Ross beat Bert Gardiner, Rambler goalie, on Baldy Northcott's rebound. Lambers at this point warmed to the task and before the period ended were skating at full clip with the N.H.L. champions.

Sammy McManus, sold to New York Rangers Tuesday and placed on the farm team, proved his worth when he became high man of the game with two goals. Bobby, former Vancouver Lions, tied the score for the winners in the first period. McManus took a pass from To Blake in the second period and scored unassisted in the third.

FOURTEEN PENALTIES
Fourteen penalties were handed out. Maroons saw away their chance of victory in a second when blond left-winger McManus tallied while Allan Shields and Earl Robinson rested. Maroons received nine penalties against five for the younger professionals.

Early in the third period the Montrealers tried for a tying counter. McManus hit several power plays and outlasted the red team. He scored at full speed toward Bill Beveridge in Mama's net, lifting a bulge drive from fifteen feet out. The puck found the corner of the net and had Beveridge well beaten.

Before the first period ended sticks were carried high and bruising body checks became part of play. Joe Lamb went to the penalty bench for high-sticking and then Earl Robinson dropped his elbow and went for Joe Cooper, Rambler defenceman. Only words were exchanged between the players as members of both squads gathered around.

Lionel Coacher received the only major penalty of the game. He tangled with Cooper near the Maroon net. Cooper came out of it with an injured eye, assisting two stitches. Larry Molpus, another Rambler defenceman, got a swollen lower lip and also received a doctor's attention.

Champlain, Ill., Oct. 31.—With Lorne Chabot on his way to Chicago for medical attention, Chicago Black Hawk ended their intra-squad exhibition series here yesterday evening as the ten team scored a 7 to 6 overtime victory over the blacks.

Dr. Meechan, club physician, came to training camp yesterday and diagnosed Chabot's ailing knee as a damaged cartilage and sent him off to Chicago, where the Vesna Cup goalie will receive treatment. He may not be able to play in the season's opener November 7.

In his absence, little Tommy Cook, veteran centre on the Hawks third line, went into the nets, and while beaten, performed very creditably. In the other cage, Mike Karska kept his victory record clear for the training season.

Gottselig, McPayden and Emery Hansen scored two goals apiece in the game, while March, Johnson, Morgan, Burke, Weber, Thompson and Ouellette scored one each. Ouellette's counter decided the game.

CARNERA TO MEET NEUSEL
Heavyweights Engage in Ten-round Bout at New York To-morrow Night

New York, Oct. 31.—Some light on the question of whether last summer's revival of $1,000,000 boxing gates—as evidenced in the Joe Louis-Max Baer scrap—was due to new interest in boxing or merely to the rise of the Detroit bomber, may come to-morrow when Primo Carnera and Walter Neusel open the indoor season at Madison Square Garden.

So far as title aspirations and the like are concerned, it will be just another heavyweight fight unless one or the other can win decisively enough to hop into the ranks of the contenders. As an indication of public interest, however, the attendance may be a matter of considerable importance.

Between them they have managed to work up all the signs of a good scrap, and the experts are rating the ten-round affair as an even money and take your pick.

Primo has announced he intends either to knock out his rival or be knocked out himself. The smaller Neusel, a mere 200-pounder, is just as confident of winning.

Reich Protest Over Article

Winston Churchill's Words Bring Sharp Answer From Germany

Associated Press

Berlin, Oct. 31.—Germany, stung by attacks on Nazism by the outspoken Winston Churchill, has ordered its Ambassador at London to make a sharp protest to the British Government.

Specifically, the protest is to be made about an article appearing in The Strand Magazine, in which Churchill assailed Adolf Hitler and the Nazis.

"It is such expressions as Churchill's are repeated very often," said a government spokesman, "we most certainly would have to reconsider our neutrality position in the Italian-Ruthenian conflict."

At the same time, The Strand Magazine was banned in Germany for an indefinite time.

G. WESTCOTT, ACTOR, DIES

Associated Press

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 31.—With deep anxiety still felt over the condition of one of its old-time favorites, Mae Marsh, Hollywood's film colony prepared today to pay last respects to a younger actor-member, Gordon Westcott.

The thirty-one-year-old Utah-born player yesterday evening lost a four-day battle against death, succumbing to a complication at the base of the skull suffered when his polo pony fell on him during a game last Sunday.

Miss Marsh, desperately ill from complications that developed from a burst appendix, showed slight improvement this morning, the San Francisco Chronicle reported she had a better night.

Ontario Doubles Exports of Apples

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Orchards are recovering from the setbacks of two winters ago, and with apples in Ontario now "truly at its best," the crop will exceed that of last year by 100,000 barrels.

Percy W. Hodgkiss, secretary of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, expects the export of apples from Ontario this year easily will double the small output of last season. Greenings, snows and McIntoshes are the varieties being exported in greatest quantities at present, Mr. Hodgkiss says. Spy and other varieties are mostly stored for later export.

F. C. DAVIDGE PASSES AWAY

Former Well-known Business Man of Victoria Died Suddenly in Toronto

Frank C. Davidge, who was a well-known Victoria business man at the turn of the century, passed away suddenly in Toronto yesterday, according to word received here this morning. He was seventy-five years of age.

Mr. Davidge was president of the firm of F. C. Davidge and Company, importers of Japanese art goods and high-grade wallpapers, one of Toronto's old-established business houses. He had been a resident of Toronto for thirty-five years.

Born and educated in India, the late Mr. Davidge came to Victoria as a young man. He was in the import and export and general insurance business in this city, with the late William Monteith, father of Major Roger Monteith. They had a large warehouse and general office in the old E. and N. Building on Store Street.

After moving to Toronto, Mr. Davidge has passed through Victoria a number of times on his way to and from Japan, where he went on buying trips for his firm. He had not been here, however, for more than ten years.

EARLY VENTURES

Informed of his death this morning, several of his old friends in Victoria recalled a number of Mr. Davidge's business adventures in the early days. At the time of the Klondike gold rush he purchased the steamer Nung-Chow, outfitted her with bunk, and sent her north laden to capacity with prospectors.

Mr. Davidge was a member of the old Victoria Board of Trade, and was an indefatigable worker in its interests. He was also a member of several clubs of that day.

He was known for his charitable deeds, and it was recalled that at Christmas time he would hire an express cart, load it with gifts and send it around to the homes of unfortunate people.

Mr. Davidge was well known in the business and cultural life of Toronto, and was an active member of the Board of Trade of that city.

He leaves his widow, the former Miss E. Anis Powell of Victoria, whom he married in Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. R. H. B. Hector, and two sons, Sidney C. Davidge, and Peter F. Davidge, all of Toronto, and two sisters-in-law, Miss Kate Powell, connected with his firm in Toronto, and Miss Lottie Powell in New York.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon in Toronto from the residence of Mrs. Hector, 120 Imperial Street. Interment will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto.

WOULD LICENSE SAANICH HALLS

In order to give police control over dance halls in the municipality, the Saanich Police Commission yesterday evening recommended to the council the drafting of a by-law to license these premises.

Commission action followed recent complaints from municipal residents, who stated the halls in some cases were causing a disturbance in the early hours of the morning when dances were breaking up.

It was pointed out that if these halls were licensed police would have the power to close them if further complaints were received. It is not intended that a heavy license should be set. The council will consider the recommendation to-night.

NEWS IN BRIEF

To-morrow being All Saints' Day, there will be Holy Communion at St. John's Church at 10.30, the rector, Rev. Canon P. A. D. Chadwick, will officiate.

The Sixteenth Canadian Scottish Intermediate Rugby fifteen will hold a workout to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Armories. All players are asked to turn out.

The Victoria Poultry Association will meet in the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock on Monday evening, J. Sansbury will be speaker and all who are interested are invited to attend.

A Halloween dance will be held in St. Paul's parish hall, Keppel St., to-night from 9 till 11, under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. Jack Carter's Merry-makers will supply the music.

The bank clearings in the city for October were $7,173,424, according to a statement issued to-day by the Victoria Clearing House. The figures for the same period last year were $6,894,641.

The total bank clearing in the city for the week ended October 31 was $1,480,000, according to a statement issued by the Victoria Clearing House this morning. The figures for the corresponding period last year were $1,335,696.

Any Victorians interested are invited to attend the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock to-night, called by W. T. Straith, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, to discuss plans for establishing a curling rink on the site of the B.C. Worsted Mill.

Chamber of Commerce directors will meet in Spencer's dining-room at 12.10 Monday afternoon. A report on plans for a curling rink on the site of the worsted mills and of inquiries received for the establishment of moving pictures in Victoria will be discussed.

Lower prices were fixed by the provincial government to-day on reverted land within the Sumas Dyeing and Drainage District. By order-in-council prices ranging from $40 to $90 an acre were set on several large tracts which have reverted and are open for re-sale. Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said to-day that the basis of the sale of these properties will be made to push the sale of these properties for which no offers would be made on the former high prices.

The Victoria Welsh Society has prepared another interesting and varied programme for the regular monthly meeting to be held to-morrow evening in the S.O.E. Hall, Broad Street, at 8 o'clock. Members are urged to attend as further details of the annual bazaar, to be held on Friday, December 6, will be discussed. Refreshments will be served and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Included on the programme will be such well-known artists as Miss Julia Kent-Jones, Jack Townsend, Stan Jones, Miss Celia Lewis, Miss Gladys Kinsey and Mrs. J. C. Williams.

A move to affiliate B division of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police Veterans with the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans was launched at a meeting of the ex-postulants yesterday presided over by C. R. Pittman. The affiliation will be discussed at the next general meeting of the army and navy group. If the amalgamation should take place it is the intention of the former police officers to preserve their identity as such although they would be members of the Army and Navy unit. The meeting ordered a letter of condolence forwarded to Col. George Worsley on the recent death of his sister.

Tremors Follow Honduras Flood

Earth Shocks Add to Miseries After Death Toll of 131

Associated Press

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Oct. 31.—With shocks were added to the troubles of flood-ridden Honduras to-day as rescue workers reported a known flood death toll of 131 persons.

Strong tremors were felt in the towns of Tegucigalpa and Comayagua, and in the service of the government, dropping food and medicines to persons marooned by high waters.

The United Fruit Company estimated it had suffered damage of more than $5,000,000 from the flood. The government's losses in the Corozal alone are expected to total more than $1,000,000.

IMMIGRANTS FOR AUSTRALIA SOON

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters

Adelaide, South Australia, Oct. 31.—A definite scheme for resumption of British migration to Australia may be expected shortly, it was announced to-day by R. L. Butler, Premier of South Australia.

Following official discussions with the British government, it is expected Britain will make a generous offer to finance the settlement of selected workers and farmers, he said.

NEW AIRPORTS IN UNITED STATES

Washington, Oct. 31.—The Commerce Department has approved a $17,000,000 airport programme of the Works Progress Administration, involving the building or improvement of 250 airports. Five hundred smaller projects are under consideration.

FINANCES OF CITY DETAILED

Mayor David Leeming Tells Rotarians Victoria Now Marking Time

The city of Victoria's finances were explained frankly and in detail to-day by Mayor David Leeming, speaking before the Rotary Club at its luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

"And behind it all is the heck of a big problem," the Mayor concluded simply, after analyzing the facts and the difficulties of the present situation, under the title of "Where the tax dollar goes to."

That Victoria financially is in a position of bare equilibrium, with her debt no higher now than two years ago, but unable to pay off any of that debt, and unable to branch out into any new expenditures, was the upshot of the Mayor's words.

And during this period of equilibrium, said the Mayor, the streets, sewers and public works of the city were steadily depreciating.

"If we can get government aid, O.K.; if not, we must just go on marking time," he said. "The city council will keep its feet on the ground, and meet each obligation as it falls due."

With a good sinking fund back of it, the city can go on meeting those obligations for another ten years, according to the Mayor. After that period has elapsed, and if things have not got better, the city will have to throw itself on the help of the government.

One of the biggest blows to the city financially had been in the increase of social service charges and the decrease of liquor and racing revenues from the provincial government.

The two together made an annual loss to the city of $349,000 compared with the 1930 figures.

Of these charges, the Mayor said: "They are the basis of our tax, it is not just that social service charges should be placed on the back of the property owner. They should be a charge on the pockets of all the people."

Yet in spite of all the difficulties of Victoria's position, with a per capita debt second only to that of Edmonton, the city, according to bonded officers across the Dominion, ranked high as any city in the west.

BUDGET ANALYZED

Mayor Leeming analyzed the 1935 budget of the city of Victoria, going into each item of receipts and disbursements in detail.

The gross budget of Victoria, a city of 32,000 people and with an area of only seven and one-half square miles, he said, was $3,949,743, "which is the equivalent of a dollar of money for a small city."

Of the collections last year's surplus accounted for $25,000. Prorated charges accounted for $85,000, road and poll tax for $18,000, trades licences for $102,000, the waterworks for $282,000, motor taxes for $44,000, and miscellaneous revenues for $68,000.

The city had borrowed $105,000 from the provincial government to meet its relief costs, had borrowed $48,000 from the sinking fund surplus this year, and had refunded $238,000 of debentures.

The tax levy of over $1,700,000 brought the total collections to $2,809,000. To this was added $340,000 taken straight out of the sinking fund, bringing the total receipts up to the $3,049,000 mark.

Of the city's expenditures, debt took the largest slice of any single item. The gross debt this year took $1,288,000, or 37.3 per cent of the gross budget.

INTEREST ON DEBT

Interest on debt alone accounted for $482,896.

In this connection, Mayor Leeming referred to the fact that a Seattle paper had had an eight-column editorial recently referring to the Puget Sound city as "burdened" with a $700,000 annual debt interest charge.

If that were crushing for Seattle with a population of over 200,000, what could a still greater sum be for little Victoria, the Mayor asked.

Other items of expenditure mentioned by Mayor Leeming were: Schools, 16.7 per cent of the total budget; Police Department, 3.8 per cent; Fire Department, 5.7 per cent; public library (which must be kept open by law), 1.2 per cent; administrative charges, including superannuation, 4.6 per cent; parks and boulevards, 2.5 per cent; street lighting, 1.7 per cent; social service charges of all sorts, including relief, 13.2 per cent, and public works, 5.5 per cent.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Of the city's police department, the Mayor said that he had heard suggestions that the policing of the city could better be carried out by the provincial force. He asserted that such a system would cost considerably more and be far less efficient.

"Our Police Department gives a service that could not be duplicated," he said.

SUPERANNUATION

On the matter of superannuation charges, representing an annual expenditure of $54,850, Mayor Leeming said that under the new scale, to keep the superannuation at the level at which it was maintained under the old system would cost the city annually $120,000. This was a matter which something had to be done immediately.

The city's expenditures had been pared down largely in the direction of public works, said the Mayor, with a consequent rapid deterioration of streets, bridges and sewers.

Taxation, he said, could not be raised for the simple reason that the taxpayer was unable to find more money.

Obituary

JOHN DAVIES

Funeral services, attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends, were held yesterday afternoon for John Davies, who passed away on Friday last. Canon A. E. de L. Nunne conducted the service, during which Mrs. S. M. Morton rendered the solo, "Some Day We'll Understand," and the congregational hymn sung was "Peace, Perfect Peace." The casket was surrounded by many beautiful floral tributes. A large representation of Oddfellows and Rebekah members attended. Bros. F. Dillabough, J. Bradshaw, D. Henry, B. Schaefer, D. Wallis and D. R. Ferry were the active pallbearers. At the graveside a short service was conducted by Acting Noble Grand Clarence Brown and Chaplain E. Coombe. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

ETHEL LOUISA GARLAND

An unusual large number of sympathizing friends were present at the funeral services conducted yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Ethel Louise Garland. Rev. J. B. Rowell, pastor of Central Baptist Church, conducted an impressive service during which the hymn, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" was sung. A solo was also rendered. "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break" was many a faithful follower of the departed. The following acted as pallbearers: J. Daniels, W. Stark, P. N. Cornock, T. Renfrew, H. Masters, and A. Coombe. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot at Rose Bay Cemetery.

DAY DEDICATED TO MAJOR BOWES

At the request of the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor David Leeming to-day declared next Wednesday "Major Bowes Day" in recognition of the visit here of a visit of amateurs sponsored by the United States radio figure.

Major Bowes's performers will appear on Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre. Efforts are being made by officials of the Chamber to present him with some souvenir of his visit here.

AMATEUR UNIT WILL APPEAR

Major Bowes's Traveling Group Will Be in City Next Wednesday

F. McWilliams, advance agent for the Major Bowes traveling amateur unit which will appear in Victoria to-morrow night, will be in Victoria to-morrow night to make arrangements for the show, which will be staged at the Capitol Theatre.

W. T. Straith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, is arranging to have some memento, peculiar to Victoria, sent to Major Bowes as a souvenir of his troupe's visit to the city. This will give valuable continent-wide publicity on the coast-to-coast NBC radio network.

Bob Oakley will represent Major Bowes as "Master of Ceremonies and Guardian of the Gong" at the performances here.

The following make up the group: Stauffer Twins, long alikes, sing alikes; the Hoboken Four, singing and dancing; Igor Ivans, Oxford University student, Oklahoma Mustang Wranglers; Marshall Haley, the retired redcap; Julio Vitalo, the fruit peddler; Ralph Lawrence, the triple-voiced wonder; Marie Jullio, the Virginia nightingale; Bob Ryan, Columbia University xylophone wizard; Smiling Rae Scud, the Yankee yodeler; Vivian Barlow, impersonator; and Israel Margolis, the rabbi's son.

AID FISH IN GOLDSTREAM

City Releases Supply of Water From Reservoir to Help Spawning Conditions

The trickle of water which used to be Goldstream has been swelled to a fine steady flow with a good depth. This has been made possible through the efforts of the city, which has been approached by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, requesting that the flow of water be increased to aid the thousands of fish to fight their way up-stream to spawn.

Alderman Andrew McGavin, chairman of the city water board, was requested to release a steady flow of water from the city's reservoir at Goldstream throughout the spawning season, and this is now being done.

Before the city was approached on the subject the spawning conditions in the stream were bad. Hundreds of salmon were dying for lack of water to get up-stream.

The Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association is gratified by the action taken by the city in its aid spawning conditions at Goldstream, one of the chief sources of fish supply for the Saanich arm and Brentwood Bay.

A letter requesting the removal of the dead fish from the sides of the stream for fertilizer has been sent to the supervisor of fisheries at Nanaimo.

JUDGE ASKED TO RULE ON DISPOSITION OF FORTY-YEAR-OLD BANK ACCOUNT

When Mary Ann Laumeister, who was prominent in the life of Victoria in the early days, died at Auburn, Wash., in 1896, there was left in the Bank of Commerce a deposit account which had been accumulating at compound interest for forty years from a deposit of $800.

This deposit had been made by Drake, Jackson and Helmecken. This old legal firm had been acting as counsel in the action of T. A. Bowler, commenced in 1887 over lands which now include the Willows Exhibition park. After John T. Bowler's death, the action was continued by Mrs. Laumeister as his executrix. The court then held that some of the land held by the Bowler estate should have been sold and the proceeds paid into court.

Now, the official administrator is asking for a court order before paying out the money to the Laumeister heirs, two in Alaska and one in Seattle.

M. J. Davis, counsel, to-day went into his history before Mr. Justice Fisher of the Supreme Court. He explained that although the money had been deposited by the legal firm as Bowler to there was no information as to where the money to Miss Laumeister's account had come from or that it was not hers absolutely. The importance of this information arises out of the fact that in 1893 there was an assignment of her interest in Todd vs. Bowler to Ebert Dunning as receiver for the Merchants Bank of Portland, Ore. If this deposit were included in the assignment, then the Laumeister heirs could not share in it.

Mr. Justice Fisher to-day ordered that Mr. Davis on his next step in the case should find out whether Mr. Dunning still lives.

In the meantime, the old bank deposit keeps on growing slowly at compound interest.

DRY SALTRIES ARE CHECKED

Operator Without License Prosecuted as Control Is Tightened

Implementing a drive to get a complete check on the salmon dry saltery industry in British Columbia, the authorities this week made the first of what may be several prosecutions for failure of operators to take out licenses.

A Japanese operator at Moers Inlet, off Rivers Inlet, was fined $500 and costs or six months in jail for operating without the required government license.

The fisheries department has been actively engaged in checking up in recent weeks, it was stated this morning, and other prosecutions may follow.

This drive is partly the result of a move to put the entire industry on a stabilized basis through market control.

Only a certain number of licenses were issued and a date after which no further applications could be made was fixed. The salt fish marketing board then set quotas for the licensed plants.

It has since come to the notice of the department that some small operators were going ahead without licenses.

The Victoria Choral Union has set to-morrow as the last date on which new members for the 1935-36 season can be accepted. It is expected that there will be a regular attendance of all the singers from now on until the performance of "The Messiah" on December 18.

Plans for Hall to be Studied

At the regular meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. held on Tuesday it was decided that the association should concentrate efforts on repairing the hall and building an additional room for meetings.

At the meeting it was announced that on November 12 a fellowship hour would be held at St. John's Church for A.Y.P.A. members. On November 1 St. Luke's will play a friendly game with St. Luke's in the latter's hall and a good turnout of players is requested. A badminton rally will be held in St. Barnabas schoolroom on November 2.

Members are urged to attend church the third Sunday in each month.

After the meeting doughnuts and coffee were served.

St. Luke's Association will hold a dance in Sons of Canada Hall on November 6.

CHAPTER XX
Mrs. McNeill, arriving home a few days earlier than she had expected, took a taxi from the depot to her home on Garfield Avenue. She preferred to do this rather than call John at the factory and put him to the trouble of meeting her. She was that sort of person—brisk, self-reliant and not given to demanding attention.

When she reached home she was given a welcome by Susie, the colored cook who had served her for almost thirty years. Susie and her husband, Ebe, the yard man, lived at the rear of the place in the cupola building that had been stable and servants' house when built. The lower floor had long since been converted into a garage, but the quarters of Susie and Ebe remained as unchanged as themselves. Though the years had slowed down the efficiency of both servants, their pride in their work and their devotion to the McNeills was a by-word.

Mrs. McNeill exclaimed, "How nice everything looks, Susie! I don't believe I've been missed at all. How's Mr. John?"

"If it's his appetite you're asking about," answered Susie, "it ain't never been better. But he's doin' a powerful lot of galavantin'." He ain't home any longer than it takes to eat his meals and spruce up."

Mrs. McNeill looked pleased. She said, "I always thought John would be socially inclined if he once got started. Where has he been going, Susie?"

"Now you're askin' me sumthin'," replied Susie. She rolled her eyes importantly, enjoying the remarkableness of the news she was about to impart. "He's been goin' oveh to the old Hunter house!"

Mrs. McNeill stared in amazement, her well-bred mouth actually gaping. "What do you mean by that, Susie? What on earth does he do there?"

"He hangs aroun' a young lady," Susie informed her. "When he ain't visitin' with her, he's carryin' her for a ride in his cab. Looks like Mr. John done gone daffy!"

"Who is the girl?" Mrs. McNeill asked. "You don't mean the Chalmers child, do you, Susie?"

"Yee'm," said Susie, nodding. "Dat's who 'tis, all right. He call her 'Elsie' when he yell at her one mornin' from the yard. Ebe and me recollects her from a child, but we ain't had a good look at her since she's been here. Seem like she done come all by herself to take a rest. Mr. John tole me not to talk about it to anybody, an' I ain't."

Mrs. McNeill was calculating. "Elsie must be about twenty years old now. Do you mean the girl hasn't seen anybody but John, Susie?"

"Seems like she ain't," replied Susie. "Maybe she's done caught the solitary bug from crazy Bertha Gibbs."

Mrs. McNeill laughed, then grew sober. "She's got no business being alone in that house with Bertha. I've an idea she came without her mother's consent. I must look into it, Susie."

As she put away her clothes and freshened herself for dinner, Ellen McNeill's mind dwelt on Susie's news. She could hardly wait for John to come home, so she might question him. As far as she could tell, the house next door looked just as usual. It was hard to believe that a vivid young thing from the fashionable world had incarcerated herself there.

John arrived just in time for dinner; almost before the soup was finished his mother was asking him questions about Elsie. His reticence surprised her. Could Susie be right about his being "daffy" over the girl? She said, "John, I must see her! She's got no business in the world being in that house. Whatever induced her to come? Just a whim?"

"It seems so," answered John. "She needed a rest."

Mrs. McNeill said, "I'm afraid I wouldn't recognize her now. I recall her as a handsome, imperious child. How is Bertha reacting to it all, John?"

"More reasonably than you'd expect," John replied. "But I feel darn'd uneasy about it, just the same. I've just been thinking, Mother, couldn't we ask her over here to finish out her visit?"

"Of course we could, son," she told him. "I've been planning the same thing myself. Go over after dinner and bring her to me. I think I can convince her that she ought to come to us."

Ruth was not prepared for John's request that she run over to see his mother with him. It threw her into a panic. She exclaimed, "Why, John! I didn't know your mother was at home."

"She came back to-day," John told her. "She's all worked up over your being here. She's anxious to talk to you. Now come on, honey, and don't argue. You don't want to hurt Mother's feelings, do you?"

He did not let her wait to "primp," as he called it, but seized her hand and drew her, running, after him across the lawn.

Mrs. McNeill met them in the hall and kissed Ruth matter-of-factly as she greeted her. She said, "You're dear child to come. John says you haven't been seeing people, but I felt you wouldn't mind seeing me." She was leading Ruth into the big living room and seating her on a divan as she talked. The girl's panic was vanishing. She had been accepted as Elsie, even in the clear lamplight.

Perhaps there was nothing to fear, after all. She looked shyly at John and his beaming smile reassured her. He said, "Mother's got a plan. A swell one!"

"What is it?" Ruth asked, her voice a little flustered.

"It's this," said Mrs. McNeill. "You're to go back and pack your clothes and come to us at once. You're not to stay another night in that desolate old barn. It's not practical. It's not even safe."

Ruth answered, surprised and touched. "Oh, but I couldn't do that. I couldn't." She did not say why she couldn't, but she said it firmly, as if she meant it. She only knew that she must not let them persuade her.

Mrs. McNeill asked pointedly, "Does your mother know you are here, Elsie?"

"No," answered Ruth, flushing hotly. So it was going to be a sort of inquiry after all.

Professor E. M. Straight Speaks to Members of Round Table at Dinner

With the aid of charts and by practical demonstration Professor E. M. Straight, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station, gave an instructive address on gardening to members of the Victoria Round Table Club at a dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Straight confined his remarks to gardening as it applied to beautification. Well kept gardens, without fences, did much to turn a street into a lovely boulevard, he said.

With plant material in front of him, the speaker showed how cuttings made, and explained the principles of layering and grafting and propagation by careful selection of seeds.

Flag stones with moss or tiny alpine plants or even grass growing between them were preferable to the ordinary concrete paths in the garden, Mr. Straight said. As far as landscaping was concerned he showed plans, but pointed out that they were not to be copied, as every garden was different. They merely showed the general principles of garden architecture.

The element of surprise added to the beauty of the garden, Mr. Straight said. The garden should not be built so that it could be seen at one glance, but should have little nooks and crannies with novelties to add to its interest.

Alberta Whisky Prices to Go Up

Scotch, Rye and Gin Will Be Boosted By Government To-morrow

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Oct. 31.—With increases up to twenty-five cents on a twenty-six-ounce bottle of Scotch, twenty cents on a similar bottle of rye, twenty cents on imported gin, ten cents on Canadian gin, twenty-five cents on the more costly liquors and five cents on a dozen plums of beer, new prices at the Alberta vendors' stores will go into effect to-morrow.

The new price list announced yesterday, includes the notation in red ink: "Prices quoted in this list include an assessment for relief purposes."

The new list, however, shows steep reductions in the price of brandy imported in the bottle. One brand drops from $4 for a twenty-six-ounce bottle to $3.50. Another brand shows a reduction of ten cents a bottle, and another brand shows a decrease from $5.50 to $5.10.

Increases in the price of wines run from five to ten cents a bottle.

The increases are going into effect following an announcement by Premier Abernethy that he hoped to raise $800,000 by this method.

Wilson, Alfred and Edward Shepherd, and at the third winning table, Mrs. Woods, Miss Lillian Woods, Cyril Waters and Stewart Hill. Winners of parties were Miss Thelma Butler and Miss Evan Brown. Father Scheeba acted as master of ceremonies. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed with Gus Migueaux's orchestra in attendance. Mrs. Herbert Boshier held her post-nuptial reception this afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Smart-hurst, East Road. The rooms were attractively decorated with autumn flowers and vines. The bride received in her wedding gown and cut the two-tier wedding cake centering the dining table. Mrs. W. Baywick Sr. presided at the tea urn.

Hallowe'en

By Helen Welshimer

SINCE Hallowe'en is almost here, When black cats, elves and snakes appear, A child who glances up the sky May find a dark witch passing by. Ah, any evening there may loom A witch who rides a flying broom; Whose teeth and nose and hat are pointed, Whose claw-like hands are double-jointed. Wise children know that if they smile Back at the witch a little while, Not any toad or snake or charm She has with her can bring them harm!

More Dock Troubles In South Expected

Two Ships Released in San Francisco Yesterday, But Situation Is Tense Again To-day

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—New "hot cargo" disputes threatened further interruption of Pacific Coast steamship service to-day.

Momentary easing of the tense waterfront labor situation by the unexpected release of two freighters was followed by formal notice from William J. Lewis, district president of the International Longshoremen's Association, that stevedores will not handle any cargo to or from strike-bound Gulf ports.

The notice, which became effective at midnight to-night, was served orally on Capt. W. T. Lion, operating manager of Swaine and Hoyt Limited, steamship agents. The same notice was reported to have been served on representatives of the Luckenbach Steamship Company at San Pedro.

The steamer Katharine Luckenbach, due at San Pedro from Gulf ports Saturday, was expected to be the first ship to feel the effect of Lewis' order, which was described in waterfront circles as in conformity with instructions issued by Joseph P. Ryan, international president of the I.L.A.

It was pointed out, however, that operators of the I.L.A. and steamship companies are not to be expected to operate at midnight to-night, and that similar contracts at Texas ports expired last June 30, while Pacific Coast agreements have been renewed and are binding until September 30, 1936.

"Thus refusal to handle Gulf cargo here would be a violation of the arbitration award," said a spokesman for the employers. "Obviously striking longshoremen of the Gulf ports hope to win their strike by inducing Pacific Coast longshoremen to violate their contracts with their employers."

Release of two freighters by striking seamen momentarily eased tension yesterday.

Sailors on the Golden Harvest, who walked off Tuesday, when denied guarantees of $1 an hour overtime instead of crew members' option to pay or grant time off, agreed to resume work after a meeting of the Labor Relations Board. Details of the settlement were unrevealed.

Tie-up of the steamer Jefferson Myers at Oakland, according to the desire of crew members for assurance they would receive return fares if trouble arose at any east coast port, likewise ended early yesterday evening. Again, there was no explanation of the terms.

Veteran Craft Lost In Storm

Ketchikan, Alaska, Oct. 31.—The salmon packer Beaver, one of the oldest fishing vessels on the Alaskan coast, was a victim of recent North Pacific storms, the crew of the packer being disclosed to-day upon the arrival of their craft here.

Two men aboard the Beaver escaped in a skiff before the craft sank in Chatham Straits after five weeks were opened in a storm. The two were Capt. Einar Haugen and Mrs. Lovgren, deckhand.

The Beaver was owned by P. A. Haugen, uncle of Capt. Haugen.

MEXICO-LONDON FLIGHT ENDED

London, Oct. 31.—Harold Gatty, British diplomat-flier, who is attached to the staff of the Embassy at Mexico City, and Peter Beller, German aviator, landed at Heston Aerodrome Tuesday afternoon, completing a flight more than half way around the world. They arrived here from Paris to terminate the 22,000-mile flight which began in Mexico City in August.

Mr. Gatty, an enthusiastic flier, is on six months' furlough from his post. He and his partner flew to Alaska and crossed the Pacific at its narrowest point to Siberia, and then flew across Asia and Europe. He says he will return to his post in Mexico by regular Atlantic steamer.

World Air Route Now Completed

Associated Press

Manila, P.I., Oct. 31.—Plans for commercial air service between Java and the Philippines, starting in February, were revealed here to-day. The line would close the final gap in air service around the world.

Heinrich Nieuwenhuis announced the service would be inaugurated by the Royal Dutch Air Lines, which he represents. The first flight he said, as he sailed for Batavia, Java, would be made in co-operation with the Holo-Negros Line, a Philippine concern, which to-morrow will inaugurate a weekly service between Manila and Davao in the southern Philippines and on the proposed line of flight to Java.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—The Toronto mining market wound up the month with a show of strength on good turnover, gains outnumbering losses at the close.

Higher London metal prices helped the base metals group. Falconbridge advanced 8 cents to 4.68 on heavy buying and Sudbury Basin trails along with a gain of about 10 cents. Trading in the golds was marked by heavy turnover in Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves; the former at a slight decline and the latter at a gain of about 40 cents. Silver took a turn for the better in the afternoon and gains of 1 to 5 cents were registered for Eldorado, Castle, Premier and Bear.

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife and I have been having a controversy over whether or not she should go to work outside of the home. We have a seven-month-old baby whom we both love dearly. We want to make our child's life a happy one, one on which she can look back without feeling that she has been cheated. Here are our arguments:

The wife says: I have had special training in clerical work and feel as if I am wasting my time doing housework. My husband makes a living for us, but the money that I could earn would give us many luxuries and comforts that we have to do without. Also, I enjoyed my work and I felt more up-to-date, more in touch with the news of the world and more pepped up when I worked in an office.

The husband says: I feel that if we hire some one to care for the baby that she will not look to my wife for the things that all children expect of their mothers. Also, I feel a man's natural desire to support his family and be the head of the house. Yet I feel that if I refuse to let her go and do the work she loves that I would be as selfish as she would be if she would ask me to stay at home and do the housework. I make a very moderate salary and out of that I get her everything that I can possibly manage, but naturally she wants the things that she was able to have before she married. Please help us to settle this vexed question.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Answer—Page Solomon, for it would take no less wisdom than he possessed to know what was the wise thing and the right thing to do in a case like yours. It makes one sigh for the good old simple days when there wasn't any problem about what a wife should do. She knew that her destiny was to make the cradle and the cradle and she settled down to it with no longing glances toward a mahogany-topped desk.

As I have remarked many times, being a woman is the most complicated job on earth and every day it gets more and more involved. For a woman's emotional life always clashes with her business life and each one unites her for the other and makes her dissatisfied with the other. Here is an illustration of it in this girl who spent time and money fitting herself for a clerical job, who was stimulated by her life in an office, who enjoyed working with others, who liked her pay envelope and the luxuries it brought her.

But all of that didn't keep her from falling in love and getting married and having a baby. And now she is bored with housework and baby-tending and she feels that with her brains and training she is fitted for better work than a servant's and she needs the money that she could so easily earn at consular labor.

And nothing on earth can make up to a child for not having been reared by its mother and not having had the divine love and patience that only a mother can give. Money cannot hire any one who can take a mother's place. And the poorest child who has a mother's hand to guide it, a mother's voice to teach it, a mother's breast to feed it with its little troubles, a mother's heart to understand it, a mother's lips to kiss its hurts and make them well, is better off and has a better chance in the world than the little millionaire who is turned over to the rearing of servants and governesses and tutors.

I am firmly convinced that no woman has a right to have a baby unless she is going to give it her personal attention.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young married woman very much in love with my husband and very happy, except for one thing. I have a lot of friends who are always telling me how wild my husband was before we were married and how many girls he went around with, and they are always advising me to watch him and be careful, and telling me that he is a philanderer and what I must do to keep him from getting tired of me, etc., etc. And this makes me very miserable. No man could be better to a wife than my husband is to me. He is so tender and considerate and never wants to go anywhere without me, and says I am the only woman he has ever really loved. Don't you think I should believe him instead of my friends? And what can I answer to them when they say these things?

Answer—Tell them up and down to mind their own business, and that you don't care who was your husband's first love so long as you are his last.

If you are wise, you will break off all relationships with these conscienceless and unscrupulous women who are deliberately and cruelly setting out to wreck your home. You will lose nothing in losing them for they are no friends of yours. They are the worst enemies you can possibly have. And lay this truth to heart: Never believe any story that is calculated to hurt your feelings that may one day bring you. They are virtually always told by "any one" who is mean enough to be willing to make you unhappy is mean enough to make up the tale.

It is a strange thing that any woman in the world could be heartless enough to plant suspicion of her husband in a young wife's heart, or to come between them and wreck the happiness of a home. Murder is not a greater crime. And the pity of it is that there is no way to adequately punish them. The only thing that you can do is to protect yourself against them by avoiding their society and refusing to let any women, even your mother, criticize your husband to you or tell you of any of his escapades of the past.

The French say that a reformed roue makes the best husband. That may not be true, but certain it is that many a man who has been a philanderer in his youth settles down into the most domestic of husbands and is all the more sure of his love for his wife because he has had so many passing flirtations.

DOROTHY DIX.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FALSE FACE

By HOWARD H. GARIS

In "Uncle Wiggily's Yellow Stump" Boudin and the pig rabbit boys and girls, up and down stairs they skipped, whispering and talking, shutting doors and peeping through the keyholes.

"My goodness! What's going on?" asked Uncle Wiggily of Nurse Fanny Wusky. "Is it a party or something?"

"Don't you know?" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Tonight is Halloween and the children are getting ready for it. They'll put on funny faces, dress up in queer costumes and go about ringing doorbells and playing tricks. Aren't you going to celebrate Halloween, Uncle Wiggily?"

"No, indeed," said the jolly rabbit gentleman. "I'm getting too old for such nonsense. I think I'll go over and spend the evening with Mr. Twistytail. He's getting old, too, and doesn't care for Halloween tricks. We'll muffle the doorbell and sit and play checkers."

"Oh, won't either of you even so much as put on a false face?" asked Nurse Jane.

"NONSENSE—false faces—No, indeed!" said Uncle Wiggily gruffly.

"Dear me! How you have changed," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "But if you won't, won't and that's all there is to it, but the children are going to have fun."

The animal boys and girls certainly were. They came for their halloween faces and their funny costumes and now, as evening came on and the stars, sprites, fairies and gnomes came forth, as they always are supposed to do on Halloween, the animal children went out to join in their pranks.

When Uncle Wiggily saw that it was about time for his tricks he played he put on his hat and coat and started out to see his fat pig gentleman friend, Mr. Twistytail.

"Oh, Uncle Wig, aren't you going to play halloween with us?" asked Baby Bunty.

"No, my dear, I'm too old for a false face," said Mr. Twistytail. "I'll be right home as he stepped out the front door."

On the way to Mr. Twistytail's pen house through the dark, Uncle Wiggily saw other children friends. They all begged him to put on a false face and come to play tricks with them. But he said he couldn't.

NEETH TWISTYTAIL

Freely seen Uncle Wiggily saw his friend the pig waddling toward him in the dusk. "I guess Twisty is coming to see me just as he was falling, he said Mr. Twistytail. "This is funny. Well, we'll go some place together away from Halloween."

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, he slipped on a banana peel and fell down in a mud puddle. Just as he was getting up, he saw Mr. Twistytail slip on a bit of orange peel and the pig also went into a mud puddle.

Neither animal gentleman was much hurt. So up they jumped and hastened to meet and shake paws as they always did.

"What a funny false face you have on, Wiggily," laughed Mr. Twistytail. "What do you mean? I haven't any false face on. But yours is enough to make a goldfish laugh!" chuckled the rabbit. "Never saw a funnier false face than yours, Twisty."

Mr. Longears didn't know what the pig meant and he didn't know what the rabbit meant until looking in a glass. They saw both their faces covered with mud from the puddles. It looked exactly like the false face of a pig and a rabbit. Each one had on a funny false face of mud. They were part of Halloween without meaning to be. Then they joined the marked children and had a lot of fun after all.

And if the postman doesn't try to put the lost of bread in the milk bottle I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the first.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1935

With benefic aspects active this month begins with many favorable promises according to astrology. Fall business and social programmes, now well started, will develop many unusual events.

Under the influence of Uranus rapid and startling changes are presaged. There will be seasonal news before the end of the month.

France and Belgium will be strongly affected by the power of Uranus, which may lead two upheavals in government affairs and many new international problems.

Uprisings and revolutions will take place in many countries. It is forecast, and southern Russia will be affected by the planetary direction.

Newfoundland as well as other British colonial possessions may cause anxiety to Canada, and Australia also will furnish cause for wide decisions and liberal policies. This should be a favorable day for mines and mining. Workers now are likely to benefit through changes in the attitude of employers.

Land values which improved through the summer will be a promise of gains in many American centres of population, where ambitious plans for expansion are being promoted by the federal government.

For those who seek employment or who seek favors there is a promise of gains in many American centres of population, where ambitious plans for expansion are being promoted by the federal government.

Persons whose lives it is to have the mark of a year of extraordinary activity. Both professions and business enterprises will attract attention. Prosperity is indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be intelligent and industrious. Subjects of this sign usually have executive and administrative ability.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include William Morris Chase, painter, 1874; and Orville R. Wright, 1868.

SENTENCED FOR BIGAMY

Vancouver, Oct. 31 (Canadian Press).—Francis Cook pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy and was sentenced yesterday by Magistrate H. S. Wood to one year in jail. He admitted he had previously served a term for a conviction on a bigamy charge. Asked by the magistrate how many times he had been married, Cook replied, "Three times—I think."

United Church Leader Coming

Rt. Rev. Richard Roberts Will Make Six Appearances Here Next Week

Rt. Rev. Richard Roberts, D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, will visit Victoria for three days next week, when he will make six public appearances both in the pulpit and at other gatherings. He is expected here to-morrow.

On Sunday the moderator will preach in the morning at First United Church and in the evening at Metropolitan United Church. On Monday he will speak at a luncheon in Spencer's dining-room for church officers and lay workers, while in the evening he will attend a young people's rally at Metropolitan United. On Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock he will conduct a round table for ministers of all denominations, and at 8 o'clock that evening there will be a service of self-dedication for all, followed by Holy Communion.

WELL-KNOWN SPEAKER

Dr. Roberts is pastor of Sheltbourne Church, Toronto, and is well known throughout the English-speaking world as a student of keen mind and a preacher of rare gifts and influence. Born in Wales, a son of the manse, he was educated at Liverpool and at the University of Wales, and rendered his first service for the church in the coal-fields of South Wales. He filled three pastorates in London, being minister first of a Welsh church in that city and later of two English Presbyterian churches. He came to this continent in 1917 as minister of the Pilgrim Church, Brooklyn, N.Y., and in 1921 became pastor of the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal. In 1925, the year that church union was consummated, he became pastor of Sherbourne Church, which position he has since filled with acceptance and great effectiveness.

Dr. Roberts is a typical Welshman in the mystical quality of his thought and in the fervor and passion of his preaching. For years now he has been a regular contributor to the columns of The New Outlook, and no material appearing in its pages is more appreciated or more widely read. Dr. Roberts is the author of many books that have had circulation around the world. He has been in great demand as special preacher and lecturer, but in recent years he has devoted himself largely to the responsible and arduous duties of his own church.

Dr. Roberts married in 1903 Miss Ann Catherine Thomas of Anglesea, Wales. Their three daughters are married to ministers of the United Church of Canada, one being Mrs. W. H. Norman of Japan. The moderator visited Japan last summer, and one of the distinguished services he has rendered the church has resulted from that visit in the many addresses he has delivered descriptive of the island kingdom and the work of the church there.

Benjamin Franklin never asked for, nor received, a patent for any of his inventions or discoveries, although he is ranked as the greatest inventive genius of his age.

TUXIS GROUP WILL CONVEENE

Election For Mock Parliament on Saturday, Nov. 23

The general election for the thirteenth Tuxis and Older Boys' Parliament of British Columbia will be held on Saturday, November 23, it was announced by Vivian Shoemaker, returning officer for the district of Victoria, this morning.

Sessions will be held in the legislative hall of the Parliament Buildings from December 27 to December 31.

Sponsored by the Religious Education Council, the parliament has many definite objects in view for the welfare of boys' work groups. Candidates are eligible for parliament subject to the following qualifications:

They must have attained their sixteenth and not passed their twenty-first birthday on January 1 of the winter in which parliament is held; they must be members or adherents of some Christian church; they must be affiliated with some boys' group carrying on a fourfold programme to the satisfaction of the Boys' Work Board; their attitudes and habits must be in accord with the standards and aims of Tuxis and they must not use tobacco, liquor or drugs in any form and they must be certified by mentors and clergymen as boys of high moral character.

Any two qualified voters may nominate any other boy eligible for election. Nomination papers duly signed in duplicate must reach one of the provincial boys' work boards and one district returning officer not later than November 8.

Twenty-six districts and three special constituencies will send members to the mock parliament.

A few years ago, when transportation facilities were lacking in British Columbia, beef cattle were started to market as calves so they would be mature upon arrival.

BIG DEFAULT ON FOREIGN BONDS

Washington, Oct. 31. — Testimony that $1,921,000,000, or 35.2 per cent, of foreign bonds outstanding in the United States are in default was recorded yesterday by the Securities Commission.

Reuben Clark, president of the Foreign Bondholders' Protective Council, testified twenty-five of forty-one countries had issues now in default. The amount outstanding was placed at $5,469,000,000.

HARD WINTER PREDICTED
Ludington, Mich., Oct. 31 (Canadian Press).—The muskrats are at it again, and Leander Brant, twenty-six-year-old weather prophet who reads weather signs in the way the little animals fashion their dwellings, says it is going to be a hard winter. "There will be much snow and rain, with a majority of rain," Brant said to-day. "I can tell because the muskrats are building their houses high."
